

Spiritus

Spiritus
Oral Roberts University School of Theology
7777 S. Lewis
Tulsa, OK 74171

The Journal of the
School of Theology

Volume 1, Number 1
Winter 1985

Contributors

Paul G. Chappell (Ph.D., Drew University), associate dean of Academic Affairs, Oral Roberts University School of Theology.

Burrell Dinkins (S.T.D., Emory University), professor of Pastoral Care, Oral Roberts University School of Theology.

Howard M. Ervin, Jr. (Th.D., Princeton Theological Seminary), professor of Old Testament, Oral Roberts University School of Theology.

James M. Hewett (Ph.D., the University of Manchester), professor of Biblical Literature and Languages, Oral Roberts University School of Theology.

John M. Miller (Ph.D., Southern Methodist University), associate professor of Christian Missions, Oral Roberts University School of Theology.

J. David Pierce (M.Div., Oral Roberts University; M.A., North Texas State University), a doctoral student in clinical psychology and theological studies, Northwestern University.

Robert G. Tuttle, Jr. (Ph.D., University of Bristol), professor of Historical Theology, Oral Roberts University School of Theology.

Spiritus

The Journal of the School of Theology

Volume 1, Number 1
Winter 1985

Editor: J. Steven O'Malley
Copy Editor: Lynn Nichols

Spiritus: The Journal of the School of Theology, Oral Roberts University, 7777 South Lewis Ave., Tulsa, Oklahoma 74171. Published annually at Tulsa, Oklahoma. Subscription information is supplied in the back of this journal. Design by R. Miller.

Copyright © 1985 Oral Roberts University School of Theology
Tulsa, Oklahoma

Table of Contents

Articles

Healings: Sign or Gift Howard M. Ervin, Jr	1
Origins of the Divine Healing Movement in America Paul G. Chappell	5
For the Healing of the Nations John M. Miller	19
Bondageanalysis Burrell Dinkins	29
Integrating the Problem-Solving Task and Divergent Professional Values: The Essence of a Cross-Pollinated Approach to Healing J. David Pierce	37

Book Reviews

Healing and Christianity by Morton T. Kelsey reviewed by Robert G. Tuttle, Jr	47
Divine Healing Today by Richard Mayhue reviewed by James Allen Hewett	48

Members of the Editorial Board for 1984-85

Dr. J. Michael Miller, Acting Dean and Professor of Old Testament, Oral Roberts University School of Theology

Dr. James B. Buskirk, senior minister, First United Methodist Church, Tulsa, Oklahoma

The Reverend Philip Eberhardt, pastor, United Methodist Church, Columbus, Texas

Dr. Howard M. Ervin, Professor of Old Testament, Oral Roberts University School of Theology

Dr. James A. Forbes, Jr., Union Theological Seminary, New York, New York

The Reverend Brad Humphrey, pastor, United Methodist Church, Oklahoma (alumnus)

Dr. Morton T. Kelsey, the Department of Theology, the University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Indiana

Dr. Frances MacNutt, Christian Healing Ministries, Inc., Clearwater, Florida

Dr. J. Steven O'Malley, Professor of Church History, Oral Roberts University School of Theology

The Reverend David Pierce, Ph.D. candidate at Northwestern University and Disciples of Christ Minister (alumnus)

Dr. Mack Stokes, Bishop of United Methodist Church

Preface

With this issue we inaugurate the journal of the School of Theology of Oral Roberts University. This project has been highly anticipated by the members, alumni, and friends of the school. We intend to present a journal of academic quality that features distinctive themes of emphasis within our program of theological education. To this end, we devote this first issue to the theme of healing and the Christian faith. Our contributors represent the four academic areas of the School of Theology faculty. These include biblical studies, historical and theological studies, Christianity and culture, and the practice of ministry. In addition, we are pleased to present an insightful contribution from a distinguished alumnus of the school.

The encouragement and support we received for this project from Dr. James B. Buskirk, founding dean of the ORU School of Theology, is greatly appreciated.

Subscriptions are $10 per year. Please address all correspondence to the editor.

J. Steven O'Malley
Editor

J. Steven O'Malley (Ph.D., Drew University) serves as professor of Church History in the Oral Roberts University School of Theology.