Valentine Delight...

REIGNING ROYALLY—Sweetheart Queen, Linda Hunter, poses for her official portrait at the Sweetheart Tree Banquet held in the ORU cafeteria.

ORU Okayed For Oklahoma Accreditation

Tuesday, January 17, 1967, the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education, approved the request of ORU for accreditation.

ORU is now fully accredited by the Oklahoma Board. In a letter from Mr. E. T. Dunlap, Chancellor of the Regents, the decision of the board is stated in full—according to Section 1107, Article XI of the Oklahoma Higher Education Code:

"The Educational Programs being offered by Oral Roberts University in the academic year 1966-67 are approved and accredited by the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education. The institution is to be re-examined, late in the second semester of the academic year in which it will graduate its first class of students with a Bachelor's Degree, for possible accreditation as a four-year Bachelor's Degree granting institution."

VISTA Recruiters to Accept Volunteers

A momentous occasion is anticipated on February 20 when VISTA recruiters will be present on the Oral Roberts University campus. Kenneth MacKenzie, an assistant Field Director for VISTA (Volunteers in Service To America), has adopted a new accelerated policy for students who have already received their Bachelor's Degree or who expect to receive it this year. "Our recruiters will now invite qualified students to training programs while we are on campus," he revealed.

This year VISTA will recruit 4,500 volunteers to serve in one of three hundred different capacities from coast to coast and in

Linda Hunter Reigns Queen Of Valentine Sweethearts

The 1967 Valentine's Banquet proved to be a "night to remember" for Queen Linda Hunter. Reigning gracefully with her lovely court, Linda was a sparkling and radiant sight to behold.

"It all seemed like a dream and I can't remember exactly what happened. I kept thinking was what an honor it was just to be up there and I didn't expect to be crowned as Queen. When my name was announced I couldn't believe it." This statement sounds like Linda for modesty seems to be one of her many virtues. When she found out about her nomination she prayed that the Lord would bless her and that she would be a better witness because of it.

A native of Tulsa, Linda excellently thoughts of attending ORU faded out of the picture. It wasn't until three weeks before school was to start that Linda decided to turn down the other schools and enroll in Oral Roberts University, and she couldn't be happier about her decision. "The challenges and opportunities in the music department are unlimited and I feel so lucky to be a part of it. I know that the Lord has surely guided and led me to this school."

The driving force that has kept Linda through the many frustrations and joys of college life has been a day by day prayer life. Linda truly reflects in her own life that "prayer is the most important thing in life and the only way to get to know God better."

'Sweetheart Tree' Gala

A Valentine delight for all the students was the recent Sweetheart Banquet held Friday, February 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Tinko-Barton Hall. Entering to the strains of the beautiful "Sweetheart Tree" couple enjoyed the elaborate decorations, delicious food, and the aura of excitement that always surrounds the crowning of a lovely young lady as Queen of the Evening. The gala affair was an evening not soon to be forgotten. The five princesses nominated by an all-school vote, were Debbie Bjornson, Linda Hunter, Cheryl Longstaff, Jacqueline Martin, and Janet Mims. The crowning of the Queen by Dr. J. D. Mistick, Executive Vice President of ORU, was the highlight of the evening.

Much preparation and hard work went into making this banquet a success. A special "thank you" goes to Mrs. Pauline Lecky, Director of Social Activities, for her work with the many committees that planned and carried out the numerous banquet details.

In charge of the voting committee were Viva Blain and Dexter King. The decoration committee chairman was Rich Croft, assisted by Noel Dobbert, Nancy Gogger, Sam Hillis, and Dexter King. Ron Di Cicco and Chris Thompson worked on publicity, and Viva Blain and Nancy Gogger on the Food Committee. In charge of entertainment was Dave Neighbors and Larry Longstaff. Dave Jones and the Junior Class took care of the clean up.

Six ORU Students Receive Parts In Spring Religious Drama

Six ORU students comprise the cast of Christ In The Concrete City, to be presented March 30, 31, and April 1 in the Tinko-Barton Auditorium.

The play, which has roles for four men and two women, is a Passion Play depicting the life of Christ during the week of His death and resurrection.

Those receiving a part in the play were: Eric Piacia, Man 1; David Graham, Man 2; Doug Droblish, Min 3; Dave Neighbors, Man 4; Betty Ulsrud, Woman 1; and Valerie Humble, Woman 2.

An evening of one-act plays will be presented Wednesday, March 1, in the Tinko-Barton Auditorium. Plays will be student-directed, played, and directed, and after the performances the audience will be given the opportunity to discuss and critique the plays with each cast and director.

Lisa Johnson is director of "Impromptu." Students appearing in "Impromptu" are Betty Swanson, Winifred; Ludwig Martinez, Tony; Robert Russell, Ernest; and Marcia Luca, Lora.

Director of "It Should Happen To A Dog" is Vange Kennedy. Her cast is comprised of Michael Bailey, Jonah; David Hoyt, Man and Sailor; and Michael Corbett, King and Angel.

DIREKTOR LEWANDOWSKI instructs. Dave Neighbors, Doug Droblish, Eric Piacia, Betty Ulsrud, Valerie Humble, and Dave Graham on 'Student-Director,' Akins Blackwell, looks on.

'Newsweek' Article

In a forthcoming edition of Newsweek magazine, Oral Roberts University will be one of several colleges and universities featured in an article on higher education.

First knowledge of the magazine's intentions came in early January when Public Relations Director Ronald Smith was contacted by both the Newsweek and Time news editors. Mr. Smith was informed of the possibility that ORU might be included in such an article, but no

ORU Library
Seminary Holds Day of Prayer

Faculty and students of the Graduate School of Theology observed a special Day of Prayer on Friday morning, February 6, in the sixth floor lounge of the LRC. Morning prayer was followed by an afternoon seminar for graduate students in order that the Seminary would have an opportunity for all its members to participate in a group experience of intercessory and soul-searching prayer.

During the three-hour meeting, the student body, worship and petition to God were done in moments of solemn meditation and singing of the Psalms. A period of prayer for specific needs of the members present. A prayer period for the world outlined of Christian missions was directed by Thomas Haggard, who was followed by prayer from Dr. Frank Laubach. The final prayer was for students of the Seminary.

Two special days of prayer, in addition to the daily chapel services, are observed each semester at the Spiritual Life Program of the Seminary. The next Day of Prayer will be held on March 31.

Dear Forum,

I am writing this letter in defiance of all I believe in. I do not expect to have been pushed to the wall by theologic problems, but I have been concerned about the Women's Judiciary Board. I can see no reason for putting judgmental pressure on the women. For this reason, I hope that my work is not a failure. Perhaps, in our inexperience, we failed. For I now realize that discipline is the only way some people learn. And if this is so, then I think that some of the blame which has been a direct effect on the instructor that she will not violate a rule, whether unintentionally or deliberately.

I am a member of the Women's Judiciary Board and believe that we have found five conscientious young women who have accepted the challenge of judging peers in spiritual and moral affairs. We know that we cannot be sure that they do not make mistakes. But we, as a group, are willing to be corrected. We have efforts to bear, the betterment of society through discipline. This is a difficult task. To my knowledge, there is always a feeling of antagonism between judges and those judged.

The antagonism is a feeling of being human nature, but here at ORU, the problem, as I see it, is the extent to which we can help human behavior. I hope this could sound too idealistic, but I live in a realistic world. I am not one of those "purists" who think that this University can function without an Honor Code. The Honor Code is for those few who regard truth and honesty as an unnecessary part of life.

For four months, the Board has clung to a policy of "little girls" played the game of cat and mouse. The thought never entered my mind that I was the latter. For the women of the Honor Code, and if the rule is ever made a fool of, the foundation of this University will be undermined. Of the "awakening," I think that was the basis of the problem. A feeling of dignified success was born within me. For four months we were kept from participating in any activity that we have the opportunity to participate in. I have the very best of every day, and my heart has been our error, for the mercy we have shown has not accomplished our purpose. Our main purpose is to be constructive, helpful and en-
Semester Sees Changes

Pulpit Pastored Once Again
By Students' Favorite, Tommy

by Linda Zequard

A bright, blue poster recently stretched across the cafeteria wall reading “Welcome Home, Tommy.” Such was the joy of Oral Roberts University students when it was announced that Dr. Tommy Tyson would return to the pulpit. Tommy Tyson returned on a full-time basis to the campus pastorate as of January 29. Truly the Spirit of Christ in Tommy’s exuberant personality has encouraged him to stay.

Our pastor, born and raised in North Carolina, as a young man secured a job in the navy Department and later served in World War II in the Coast Guard. After the war he and his wife, sweetheart since high school, went into the wholesale truck business. But in 1947 Tommy encountered a missionary whose Christian testimony had a revolutionary impact on him. He came to realize that though he had been a member of the Christian Church since youth, he had never had a real salvation experience. That year he became a Christian and after his conversion, enrolled in Gifford College in his home state. Transferring to Duke in his senior year and receiving his undergraduate degree, Tommy felt a call to preach and completed his theological education in the seminary at Duke.

After spending some time in his first pastorate in Durham, Rev. Tyson became aware of a Profession of Faith During theology within the church and knew he was merely running a religious program. This realization led to a search for a deeper, more meaningful spiritual experience and Tommy’s baptism in the Holy Spirit in 1952. Soon Tommy entered the evangelistic field sponsored by the Methodist Church. He has traveled from Maine to California and from Vanouver to Mexico conducting prayer retreats and spiritual conferences for the past eleven years. Now Tommy returns as campus pastor “with a great deal of anticipation and excitement.” He explains, “I envision my role as uniting with many others in helping to create an atmosphere in which every student may reach his full potential as a child of God!”

'Apostle to Illiterates' Teaches on Campus

by Pat Johnson

Dr. Frank C. Laubach, founder and President of Laubach Literacy, is making ORU his home base as he teaches a Graduate School course this semester entitled “Literacy in Minstrel.” The class of approximately 75 students meets two hours weekly for 20 weeks. The added evening hour in which students have the opportunity to spend in the exciting practical experience by teaching 20 illiterates of Tulsa.

Dr. Laubach, an expert in the field of literacy, began teaching literacy to the poor in the Philippines in 1929. While there he began his famous method of “Teach One Teach One” which has caused entire villages to become literate in the space of several months, revolutionizing the field of literacy.

The Laubach Literacy courses are taught by phonetics. In most languages, students can learn the basic sounds and alphabet in a very few lessons. English, because of its irregular spellings, is the most difficult language to teach. However, Dr. Laubach is teaching the Streamlined English a student learns the basics in about a year.

One hundred and three countries have received his literacy program in a total of 274 languages.

February is...

...the month everyone sets aside to honor their favorite friend...the groundhog...the month when a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love...the celebration of one who's done the most to further the cause of peace...the author of the Virginian...memories of a tall, good-looking man in a straw hat and a young lad chopping down a cherry tree...only four months away from summer vacation...28 days; 672 hours; 45,320 minutes; and 2,419,280 seconds. Let's make the most of them!

Enthologist Enjoys Education

by Karen Bach

The most recent addition to the faculty of the Oral Roberts University science department is Dr. Ford Harries. Associate Professor of Zoology, he has been at ORU in a teaching capacity since the beginning of the Spring semester, 1967.

Dr. Harries holds various science degrees, among them an M.A. from the University of Utah, and a Ph.D. in zoology from Ohio State University and Washington State University.

Specializing in entomology, or the branch of zoology dealing with the study of insects, Dr. Harries has been the recipient of much recognition and acclaim for his discoveries, studies, and research in this field. At the Tree Fruit Research Center, in Wenatchee, Washington, he won recognition for working on the control of fruit insects, the problems of pesticide resistance, and for studies of the mite, a parasitic insect.

In 1962, he became a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and also, a Fellow of the Entomological Society of America, both honorary organizations. Additionally, within the past few weeks, Dr. Harries has obtained a United States patent for his discovery of a new insecticide, and is currently participating in the composition and publishing of a zoological textbook.

Although Dr. Harries has various professional responsibilities offered to him, he does not regret his choice of ORU. It was a big step for him to plunge into the actual full-time teaching of zoology and biology, since he had been mainly in the laboratory and research fields before his appointment to the ORU faculty, but he feels that his tenure at ORU will be enjoyable and beneficial.

I love young people, and obtain pleasure from being around them and teaching and guiding them. When I visited the Oral Roberts University campus in early November, I was so impressed by everything that I just had to accept the position. I still think that it is great here, and I am very impressed by the campus itself, the chapel, to contact him. "Great is the Lord and greatly to be praised; One generation shall praise thy works to another and shall declare thy mighty acts."

The first student chapel this semester, held February 6 was a profitable time indeed. Students who attended President Roberts' crusade in Memphis, Tennessee shared their impressions of the experience. For many this was their first crusade. It was thrilling to hear them speak of how deeply they had been stirred to witness, and how they had seen God move so powerfully to save, heal, deliver.

FEBRUARY IS...

...the month everyone sets aside to honor their favorite friend...the groundhog...the month when a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love...the celebration of one who's done the most to further the cause of peace...the author of the Virginian...memories of a tall, good-looking man in a straw hat and a young lad chopping down a cherry tree...only four months away from summer vacation...28 days; 672 hours; 45,320 minutes; and 2,419,280 seconds. Let's make the most of them!

Enthologist Enjoys Education

by Karen Bach

The most recent addition to the faculty of the Oral Roberts University science department is Dr. Ford Harries. Associate Professor of Zoology, he has been at ORU in a teaching capacity since the beginning of the Spring semester, 1967.

Dr. Harries holds various science degrees, among them an M.A. from the University of Utah, and a Ph.D. in zoology from Ohio State University and Washington State University.

Specializing in entomology, or the branch of zoology dealing with the study of insects, Dr. Harries has been the recipient of much recognition and acclaim for his discoveries, studies, and research in this field. At the Tree Fruit Research Center, in Wenatchee, Washington, he won recognition for working on the control of fruit insects, the problems of pesticide resistance, and for studies of the mite, a parasitic insect.

In 1962, he became a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and also, a Fellow of the Entomological Society of America, both honorary organizations. Additionally, within the past few weeks, Dr. Harries has obtained a United States patent for his discovery of a new insecticide, and is currently participating in the composition and publishing of a zoological textbook.

Although Dr. Harries has various professional responsibilities offered to him, he does not regret his choice of ORU. It was a big step for him to plunge into the actual full-time teaching of zoology and biology, since he had been mainly in the laboratory and research fields before his appointment to the ORU faculty, but he feels that his tenure at ORU will be enjoyable and beneficial.

I love young people, and obtain pleasure from being around them and teaching and guiding them. When I visited the Oral Roberts University campus in early November, I was so impressed by everything that I just had to accept the position. I still think that it is great here, and I am very impressed by the campus itself, the chapel, to contact him. "Great is the Lord and greatly to be praised; One generation shall praise thy works to another and shall declare thy mighty acts."

The first student chapel this semester, held February 6 was a profitable time indeed. Students who attended President Roberts' crusade in Memphis, Tennessee shared their impressions of the experience. For many this was their first crusade. It was thrilling to hear them speak of how deeply they had been stirred to witness, and how they had seen God move so powerfully to save, heal, deliver.

FEBRUARY IS...

...the month everyone sets aside to honor their favorite friend...the groundhog...the month when a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love...the celebration of one who's done the most to further the cause of peace...the author of the Virginian...memories of a tall, good-looking man in a straw hat and a young lad chopping down a cherry tree...only four months away from summer vacation...28 days; 672 hours; 45,320 minutes; and 2,419,280 seconds. Let's make the most of them!
Choir Takes Trip

ORU's concert choir boarded a bus at 10:30 a.m., Friday, September 3, and headed for Memphis, Tennessee. They were to sing at the Oral Roberts Crusade held there at Ellis Auditorium.

The group sang at 10:30 a.m., Saturday, for the partners; at 2:30 p.m. for the crusade and again at 7:30 p.m. for the evening service.

In the evening service, President Roberts had the students join him in the laying on of hands for the sick. At the services, Mrs. Joyce Shelly sang, "I'd Rather Have Jesus" and was accompanied by the choir.

On Sunday morning, the choir sang selections at the First Assemblies of God Church in Memphis. At the end of this performance, the men's ensemble sang at the Park Avenue Church of God, where the trumpet trio (Ron Metcalf, Demmie Wehle, and David Holiday, accompanied by Sharon Griffin) also performed. Several of the church members prepared lunch for the choir at the conclusion of the service.

Some of the students were entertained in the homes of families, while others stayed in the Inn. The students arrived back in Tulsa at 11:45 p.m., Sunday.

Spanish Teacher Travels Around World

Discoveres Life Exciting, Worth Living

by Sharon Galilah

In 1963, she attended the World's Teacher's meeting at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and was chosen Muskgogee's "Teacher of the Year." One can read about Miss Stebler in the Leadership Index of 1969's Who. In 1965, she was chosen as a delegate to the second World's Teachers meeting in Ethiopia, and had the privilege of visiting the Holy Land on her trip around the world. 1966 was the big year in her life, for out of 57,000 delegates in the United States and Canada, she was one out of a hundred chosen to attend the seminar in "Purposive Living," in Montréal, Quebec. Miss Stebler represented Delta Kappa Gamma at this seminar.

Miss Stebler, who has been a member of ORU faculty since the beginning of the fall semester 1966, finds ORU's teaching environment far superior to any other that she has seen in other schools. When she has been here, Bertha Stebler has made history on campus, before Christmas she was the super-intendendent of Manhattan Construction Company, Dale Hill, climbed alphabetical. From there she went to Europe, studying in Pincz, Czechoslovakia, and Berlin.

Comparing his formal musical studies, Prof. Jones returned to the United States and joined the St. Louis Symphony where he remained for 23 seasons under the conductor Vladimir Sicheskanian. During this time, he taught violin at Washington University in St. Louis and at the St. Louis Institute of Music, where he was faculty member and student.

Mr. Jones was the violin soloist on the first radio program broadcast to entertain Admiral Byrd at the South Pole.

During World War II, he was field director for the American Red Auditorium, where he assisted in the development of the air evacuation program.

Returning to the United States, Mr. Jones rejoined the St. Louis Symphony and later accepted the position of concert master of the Tulsa Philharmonic and professor of violin at Tulsa University, where he remained for 31 years.

In 1965, he came to teach at ORU. When asked if God had led him here, Mr. Jones replies, "Yes, and I chased Him here" knowing He was preparing him for the campus.

Mr. Jones, who after 25 years of marriage still says that his wife is his "best girl," has one son, Francis, Jr., who married a former ORU student, and is currently the Mistletoe Security Officer at Vandenberg Air Force Base in California.

Vocal Concert Presented

On January 31 Calvin Marsh presented a vocal concert to the students and faculty of Oral Roberts University in the Timko-Barrow Auditorium.

Mr. Marsh, who has spent 12 successful years as a baritone for the Metropolitan Opera Company, presented a program of much of the works of the famous operas "Flautista" by Handel; "Spring Symphony" by Respighi; "Spiritual I'm Gonna Tell God All About You"; "Hallelujah," arranged by Hall Johnson.

Annual Works for Results

The "old book," edited by Beverly Hubbard, exemplifies the theme of the "whole man," and deals, in pictures, with every part of the whole man.

During the "new" 1966-67 edition, Miss Mullinax, portrays the theme "Shadow of a Mood," it will include nine pages of full color.

Miss Mullinax is extremely optimistic about the yearbook. "I think the old book portrays the students struggling to survive. This year shows another stage in the development of ORU, but also shows what can be accomplished through co-operation. The staff has worked very hard to get the book out, and I hope the student body will be impressed.
Inkiló7.

The last President of the Board of Trustees have been chosen by Cheryl Longstaff.

Impressive Names Add Much to University

Collect about 500 college students, have them cheer Titans, give them Oracle to read, have them autograph each other's Perl- helions, and you have the nones- class glamour that ORU has brought.

Acquiring an impressive number of colorful, catchy, and sometimes confusing names is one of the more difficult aspects of obtaining full- fledged university status. In the years of its existence, ORU has set a firm foundation for such a collection.

As Shakespeare said through the lips of Romeo: "What's in a name? That which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet." It seems that it would make little difference to Mr. S. whether we autograph Titans or cheered for Perlhelions — we would still have a yearbook and a team. He is right, but the collection of labels has been a hard won.

During the first weeks of school, a fierce contest was waged to name the athletic teams of ORU. The name "Titan", a powerful tag for a powerful team, finally won above the headstrong "Mavericks" and the "Flames", a name vulnerable to undesirable critics. In mythology, the Titans were the children of Uranus whose rebellion resulted in a new order under Zeus. Since we are giving form to a new ideology of education, the name "Titan", is fitting. This newspaper is the Oracle. Its name is not, as some have sug-

Campus

Certainly at ORU there is much more to go on in the "Oracle" for the student body, faculty, students, teachers, and staff, all add to the saying, "people are funny" and a good time. The campus here-and-there spits on the laugh. If you have some "goodies" you would like to add, please contact Cheryl Longstaff. Is it true Mr. Bowden's 8:00 a.m.

High-Rise Reception Success

Guests of the World Outreach Committee and College students from ORU this weekend were treat- ed to a High-Rise Reception on Saturday evening. The High-Rise students served as hostesses for the guests who had the opportunity to tour the dorms from 4:45 p.m., to 6:45 p.m., to see the dorms and the new facilities that have been added.

Freshman English class grew so "fat" that he had to move to the LRC auditoria? - "Sure you can handle it, Mr. Bowden!"

DEEP DARK SECRETS: The Tinko-Barton Auditorium is really the "Continental Theatre" on Friday nights.

FRUSTRATION: is hating Humanities and suddenly discovering Dr. Driscoll in the hall.

INSANITY: is what occurs when you find out you've done the wrong assignment.

WORRY: is what you do when studies come out . . . you hope they get lost before they reach your partner.

HAPPINESS: is successfully hidning in the closet on Sunday mornging.

INTELLIGENCE: is understanding Mr. Morgan's jokes in Humanities.
On January 27, the Titans of Oral Roberts University met and weathered what was probably their biggest challenge of the year. On that date, Washburn University from Topeka, Kansas invaded our campus. The Washburn Ichabods were ranked at nineteenth in the nation by the NCAA and werefigured to roll over our Titans. However, from the game's start, it was evident that no slaughter was going to take place. The Titans came onto the hardwood determined to play the role of the spoilers and in the first ten minutes of play the Ichabods found themselves down 20-13 on the strength of an 8 point attack by big Mel Reed. By halftime the Ichabods had managed to close the gap a bit but they were still on the short side of a 37-34 tally. Dennis Payne's 1 point output in the first half equalled Mel Reed's scoring. Hardaway added 9 for the Titans.

Washburn came out fighting in the second half and the game was soon tied. From that time on it was nip and tuck as Bobby Hodge and Mel Reed battled with Washburn's Stratman and Berliner for offensive leadership. Stratman and Berliner had 9 and 10 respectively in the second half but Reed and Hodge countered with attacks of 12 and 10 respectively. The Ichabods managed to gain a two-point advantage in the waning seconds of the contest but the Titans came right back to equal their opponent's 70 points. This gave the ball to Washburn with only two seconds remaining in regulation time. But as the Ichabods attempted to put the ball into play, Arnie Cole went high into the air to bring down a Washburn pass. He immediately fed Bobby Hodge who made good on a 15-foot jumper just as the final buzzer sounded to give the Titans an all-important 72-70 victory.

Mel Reed took game scoring honors with 23 points. Bob Hodge added the ORU effort with 15. Carl Hardaway and Gerry Gagnon were also in double figures for the Titans with 11 and 10 respectively. The Washburn effort was headed by Dennis Payne's 18 points. His biggest help came from Stratman with 14 and Berlin with 13.

BROTHERS BROTHER ORU

The following night in Memphis, the Titans met a strong quintet from Christian Brothers College. Although this team didn't have the individual talent that Le Moyne possessed, they were a better disciplined ball club. This meeting was closely contested except for a few times when CBC managed to pull away a bit. CBC's biggest lead was a 15 point margin with seven minutes remaining in the game. But Christian Brothers didn't have it so easy most of the night. In fact, CBC found themselves at the bottom of the tally a great deal in the course of the game. The lead actually changed hands a number of times before they managed to get out of reach. CBC took a 39-35 lead to their locker room at half-time on the strength of a well-balanced scoring attack. ORU's offensive charge was headed by Mel Reed's 12 points. Gerry Gagnon added 9 points to the first half output.

The Titans made a valiant effort in the second half but were hurt by fouls. ORU had 24 fouls called on them in comparison to CBC's 11. Bob Hodge, Carl Hardaway, and Arnie Cole each had to play under the burden of four personals. Bobby Walls was called out on personals in the final 10 minutes of play. But the Oral Roberts University Titans managed to do quite a bit of damage in the second half. After finding themselves down 15 points with less than seven minutes to go, the Titans began methodically capitalizing on CBC's mistakes. They stole and controlled rebounds in order to bring the ball down-court and add to the Titan rally. Bobby Hodge led the Titans in this phase of the game as he hit for 16 of his 18 points in the last half of the game. But in the final minutes, the foul began to fall the wrong way for the Titans and CBC was able to maintain a lead by hitting from the charity line. The Titans did manage, however, to close the gap to 3 points and stole the ball in the final seconds. But before ORU could get the tying shot off, the buzzer sounded and the CBC fans were celebrating a 79-77 victory.

AJV's Take Trophy

While the ORU varsity was playing a tough brand of basketball in Memphis, the younger member of the Titans basketball family was playing equally well in Oklahoma City. The ORU junior varsity squad performed a great act of Oklahoma City Tournament and they showed that they were worthy of the invitation. In taking second place in the tournament, the JV showed marked improvement and determination.

The Junior Titans fought their way into the finals by pulling out a victory in a closely contested bout with Poeuet Junior College. Both Southwesterns and ORU were exceptionally cautious in the overtime period. Each team used careful defense in order to keep possession of the ball and work for easy shots. One foul shot, however, proved to be the difference as Southwesterns pulled out an 89-88 point victory. Don Shell again led the way for the Titans as he pumped in 27 points. This loss put the ORU junior varsity in second place in the final standings of the Oklahoma City Tournament. Second place, however, was still good enough for a trophy, and the trophy will be a real good-looking contribution to the Oral Roberts University trophy shelf.

Don Shell of the Junior Titans brought home a trophy of his own when he earned all-tourney honors on the Oklahoma City All-Tournament Team. We feel that this tournament gained recognition for the talent of the ORU junior Titans.

Intramural Basketball Swings Ahead

The intramural basketball season opened shortly after Christmas. Teams considered pre-season favorites were Dwight Ashley's All-Stars: Jim Lawson's Green Troubleshooters; and Bailey's Bombers, captained by David Bailey but also featuring Herby Wolfe, who starred at Connors Junior College last year. All of these teams that has looked impressive in its first two games is the faculty squad. Unfortunately, Coach Shirley sustained a knee injury in a game last week and it now seems that the odds will ride a rocky road for the next few weeks. Coach Duke is the tower of strength on this team as he scores at will from inside.

The other teams in the league are the Leftovers (University High,) Red (Williams), Technicians (John Lawson,) Tigers (Burris,) Panthers (Haines,) Wilkinson's Whimps, and the Graduate Students.

Games are played at 6:30, 7:30, and 8:30 on Monday and Wednesday evenings. Competent refereeing is provided by students from Coach Dole's officiating class. Schedules of future games are posted in the Learning Resources Center, gym, and cafeteria.

The top ten scorers in the league are: David Bailey, with a 29.3 points per game average; John Lawson averaging 28.5; Carl Lawson averaging 27.5; Ray Wilkerson averaging 23; John Haines averaging 22; Herby Poteete averaging 21.3; Coach Duke averaging 19.5; Dwight Ashley averaging 18.5; and Ed Gage averaging 17.3 points per game.

Let's Go To

McDonald's

for Hamburgers 18c

Fries 15c Shakes 25c

Call RI 3-3468

for free delivery on orders over $5.00

Brookeside

4631 S. Peoria

WILL ROGERS

4003 E. 11th