Rehearsals Begin for Drama

A cast of ten students began rehearsals last week for Franzon Goodrich and Albert Hashett's play The Diary of Anne Frank, to be presented in the Timko-Barton Auditorium November 2, 3, and 4.

According to Director Raymond Lewandowski, the play, which won the 1956 Pulitzer Prize for drama literature, will be "a challenge for both actors and director."

Maria Lucas as Anne Frank and David Graham as Mr. Frank head the cast, with Russell Hodge as Peter Van Daan, Anita Blackwell as Mrs. Van Daan, Robert Armstrong as Mr. Van Daan, Jeanie Taylor as Margot Frank, Steve Nickerson as Mr. Dussel, Dawn Huntwork as Miep, and Dave Edmonds as Mr. Kruger.

The play, a true story based on the actual diary of Anne Frank, concerns a young girl's faith in God and man. Anne was one of a group of Holland Jews who hid in an attic from the Nazis for two years during World War II.

The play will be handling properties. Students in Speech Class 215 will paint and stage the sets.

The second major production planned by the Drama department to be presented in March is William Gibson's The Miracle Play, the story of Helen Keller.

In addition, the Drama Club will sponsor six one-act plays to be presented this semester on Saturday afternoons.

3 Foreign Flavors Blend Exciting Spirit of ORU

Hawaiian sunshine, blue Fin- land fells, the cosmopolitan brave red Panama...these are but three foreign flavors which blend in the exciting spirit of 'newness' on the campus of Oral Roberts University.

Three years ago the doors of this University opened for the first time to enroll a total of 308 undergraduate students. At that time the campus was born of many of its gleaming buildings. Three first new students were aware of a vital stirring to life, a mushrooming of something that would soon spread world-wide.

In 1965 the student enrollment totaled 546 students. The campus sceneory gradually expanded with the erection in December of the Prayer Tower and its attractive layout of gardens and fountains. Construction in the spring began on the Men's HI Rise dormitory and, and KORU commenced broadcasting from the Campus Center in the Prayer Tower.

This year, 1967-68, 739 students are enrolled at Oral Roberts University, more than double the figure three years ago. Not only is the quantity of these students significant, but the quality as well. Among them are representatives of 46 states across the nation and 12 countries scattered across the globe. Thirty-three de- nominations, from Mennonite to Episcopalian and Pentecostal to Roman Catholic, add to the va- riety.

These are students of diverse talents and backgrounds. Someone Logan of London, England, em- marked in his charming accent, "I have been reading about this University from its very beginning. At last I am here." Someone still misses her home across the At- lantic but she anticipates profit- able years at ORU, "For God has led me here."

The ambitions of these new students are undoubtedly as varied as their personalities...but all are united in one common goal...the education of the mind, the body, and the spirit.

Freshman Report Cards

If report cards were in order for the results of Freshmen Week, the Freshmen Class of Oral Roberts University would make the President's List with a four-point average!

Receiving an "A" in cooperation, participation, and enthusiasm; the Freshmen Class is rapidly making its' place in campus life. Their cooperation was evidenced by the good, natural, way, in which they endured the trials of Freshmen Week. Participation was shown in the support of the Talent Trust, and their enthusiasm is felt in their eagerness to become involved in all aspects of campus life, whether it be in drama, spiritual service, or academic pursuits.

Perhaps we as upperclassmen should realize that cooperation, participation, and enthusiasm needn't be necessarily restricted to the Freshmen Class.

GUYS and GALS

by Joe Iaquinta

The Men's Judicial Board is trying to make Oral Roberts University an interesting and enjoyable place to live. This may be contrary to public opinion. Most students would probably say that the main purpose of the Judicial Board is to punish. The board is punitive by nature, but this is not the essence of its existence. It exists for the purpose of enforcing the regulations of the campus; and it serves in a constructive and educational role as well. If the Board has assumed a predominantly punitive function, the students may be responsible.

There are several principles that the J Board is obligated to follow. One of these principles is the presumption of innocence until proven guilty. A second principle is one of complete confidentiality where the member is only a member can be dismissed for breaking that confidence. The accused is entitled to his full defense and the defendant's word is not the truth. However, the board has an improvement for forgiving fabricated any kind. Lying will recall, can send a student home. As a last resort, appeal is possible to the University Discipline Committee.

The best way to lose rights and privileges is to abuse them.

Students' Summer Experiences Were G...rr...eat!

QUESTION: What was your most memorable experience during summer vacation?

DAVE SHIRK, Junior, Los Angeles, California, "One evening, at a prayer meeting in a correctional facility for young men, I played a tape sermon of an ORU student. Through this witness several were baptized with the Holy Spirit."

STARR ADKINS, Sophomore, Nashville, Tennessee, "I climbed to the summit of Snow Peak in Phoenix, and for the first time I felt I was looking down on the rest of the world."

VICKIE SMITH, Freshmen, North Carolina, "While working with Teen Challenge, I witnessed to a 15-year-old prostitute who knew so little of Jesus that she thought He was Jesus, the leader of a street gang."

PAUL SIMON, Junior, Mt. Vernon, New York, "I spent my summer as a tutor on a junior and senior high school level for the Government Cultural Improvement Program. This experience helped me to realize that a person having been a student here at ORU can generate greater empathy for the social front."

HOPE SUTHERLAND, Junor, Alexandria, Virginia, "While employed for the Department of the Navy in the Pentagon, I had the opportunity to type reports for the Congressional Medal of Honor. This made me realize how man are sacrificing their lives for God and his work."

Plans Save Time

by Dr. Paul McClendon

Chairman, Communications Department

"You must strive against the swiftness of time by the sure, sure in using it, and draw from it as thou wouldst water from a rapid torrent which is not always to flow."—Seneca

The habit of being wasteful creeps into our lives. Our country has made itself known for its prodigality. We live in the Time and Age. We have seen unparalleled waste of natural, cultural, educational, and human resources.

As individuals, we find it hard to spend money, goods, energy, resources, brains, and time. Schoolpeople think merely license, they should spend their time; a man of talent tries to use it.

To pass time wastefully is to shorten the period of living. We are spendthrift of our limited time. We permit our work to expand until it fills the time available for its completion. We allow the past to gobble up and waste great chunks of time.

To eliminate waste time, we need to concentrate our attention to finding where the leaks are. High on the list of "leaks" is poor planning. The cure is a thoughtfully planned program with all the essentials noted and should not be spent on a "pet" job.

A time budget helps. It provides a guide toward using assets to maximum potentiality. It provides a target to shoot at an accurate measure for the accuracy of a shot. It is a test of management ability to make things happen according to a plan.

Wasted time implies inefficiency. Inefficiency is poor economy. Good economy is getting the money's worth. It is proper stewardship. As Christians, it is required of us to be good stewards. That increases our feeling of time. Anything less is prodigal and "flotant" living.

The President

Dear Fellow Student,

Although there are many of you who have been in the classes of 1961, you will never experience the joy of being a student of ORU. Our faculty is always looking for ways to improve our students' learning experience and make it more enjoyable. We are constantly updating our textbooks, developing new courses, and providing new opportunities to participate in extracurricular activities. If you have any suggestions for how we can improve our educational program, please let us know. We welcome your feedback and suggestions. God bless you. It's going to be a great year!
Eulogy to Freshman

by Vonga Kennedy

There was a "freshman breed" of student on campus: the ORU senior. And this year's senior class is really on the move.

Gary Sulander, Senior Class president, relates, "We are very encouraged by the enthusiasm and cooperation shown so far by the members of the Senior Class." Gary says that this attitude was evidenced in the success of the Senior Class Pizza Party, held September 25 at the Pizza Hut.

Besides planning the traditional annual picnic, the seniors are cooking up a weekend trip to Dallas in November. They would like to attend the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship and to tour Six Flags.

Paul Bigland says the seniors are planning a "pizza toast" at 2:00 p.m. at Mohawk Park. Attendance is by junior invitation only. The juniors are also planning something big for the second weekend, something that has no precedents thus far.

"Freshman Week, from our stand point, has been a success. It was our desire to give the incoming freshman class some feeling of acceptance and show that our college is a place they can call home."

coming events

October 7--Junior Class Pizza Picnic at Mohawk Park.
October 12--Classic movie--Hamlet--7:30 p.m. The movie is three hours long and will only be shown once.
October 27--Halloween Party--all school.
November 2, 3, 4--"Diary of Anne Frank."
November 8-15--Mr. Ugly Week.
This year the students were asked to bring in a favorite picture of themselves for the campus. These photos will be displayed in the cafeteria during the week. The classes will meet in the auditoriums for the elections. The face Ugly will be crowned Tuesday, November 13.

Circle K Plans Action

by David Graham

There is a new organization on campus full of spirit, energy, and forecast. Led by President Steve Alley, Circle K International is already establishing a record of community and campus service projects.

Recently elected members of the Executive Board included: Paul Bigland, Vice-President; Secretary Mickey Talbor; Treasurer Gary Sulander; and a four-member board of trustees including Bob Goodwin, Stan Tukarski, Keith Nordberg, and Chaplain Gary Kuney.

Under the leadership of three men, plans are being made for the first semester which will be projected to the needs of the campus and the community. A comprehensive student director will be present and plans will be made for a "Circle K Day," which will be celebrated on the campus.

For the first time in their history, Circle K plans to have a "Circle K Night" on campus. This will be an evening of celebration and planning for the future.

Art Instructors Added

This year the Art Department of Oral Roberts University has increased its staff of instructors as well as its student participation.

One of the additions to the staff is Mr. Charles Ramsey, director of the instructional material center and instructor of commercial art. Dean Char Greiter is instructing night classes in advance painting. The new staff is completed by Mrs. Eileen Stratian teaching appreciation, elementary education, and elements of design. Mrs. Ruth Montgomery is again director of the sculpture and ceramics division and instructor of live drawing.

Student participation is seen in individual and group activities. Cheri Johnson, ORU junior, and an art major, placed in two divisions of the Spokane and Inland Empire Arts Festival held yearly in Spokane, Washington. Cheri's first entry, "The Eyes Are Band, and "Look with the Heart," won a blue ribbon in the sculptural form division and she also received a blue ribbon in the ceramics division.

September 16, a group of approximately 35 students attended the Art Retreat which was sponsored by the Art Department, surviving at Keystone Park the students divided into smaller groups and formed original sand sculptures such as Little Abbot's Shoe, The Lion's Inn, A Medieval Castle, The Ship, Portrait of An Old Man, and L'homme et la Femme.

Titan to Face Arkansas

by Don Amos

On Saturday, November 18, the Oral Roberts University Titans opened their season against Arkansas State. It should be interesting to see what the Titans have come up with this year. One thing that they've come up with is a vastly changed and challenging schedule. The pace at which the ORU Titans have risen to power is staggering.

But the Titan Blue, under the fine leadership of Coach Bill White and assistant Bill Shirley, are confident that they can meet the challenge. The returning ball-players are vastly improved and the new additions fill any gaps that may have existed before.

New faces to the Titan hardwood are Richie Williams, Bill Hull, Dana Lewis, and Marv Thowevel. Richie hails from Brooklyn, N.Y., where he made All-City as a senior. Richie played his first two years of college ball at Chanute Junior College in Kansas before coming to the All-Conference team. Richie is a 6'6", 215 pound forward. Bill Hull in a 6'6", 215 pound forward from Indianapolis, Ind. Bill was an All-State high school ball player before going to North-Plains in AA and when he came he made All-Conference and All-State First Team All-America.

Dana Lewis, 6'10", 220 pound freshman, will be the biggest man on the court this year for the Titans. Dana comes from New-ark, N.J., where he played with the number 1 ranked high school team in the nation. Dana made the All-State and All-American teams in high school and was considered the second best center in the country.

Gore, Oklahoma, is the home of Marv Thowevel, 6'4" 140 pound guard. Marv made All-State and All-State All-America in high school. Marv is a junior who put in his first two years at Brevard Junior College where he made All-Region II.

Returning from last year's Titan team are Mel Reed, Bob Hodge, Carl Hardaway, Don Shell, Don Amze, Paul Massey, Tom Wells, and David Waggram.

Coach White feels that this is a very well-balanced ball-club with every member capable of helping the Titans to meet that great challenge that they're going to face this year. The coach is also pleased with the team's unity and fine attitude and great emphasis on those factors.

Intramural Season Opens

This year's intramural program promises to be bigger and better than ever. Ed Ogge, graduate student who is the head of the intramural program, plans to add volleyball to this year's schedule.

Ed Ogge will again be assisted by Joy Stewart, also a graduate student, both of whom will work closely with Coach Bernie Duke.

The Building Isn't Falling Down; It's Just Karate Class at Work

by Richard Fern

This year, the ORU Physical Education Department has come up with a bonus class for students. At the time of registration, all male students were offered a chance to enroll in a special Karate class. Twenty-eight hardy souls responded and are now grinding and grooving their way to a new level of physical development.

The class is being taught by Lou Angelos, a local professional who is the founder of the Titans Institute of Karate. Lou holds a fourth degree black belt and has just returned from Japan where he studied under the supervision of the founder and tenugui master.

In addition to receiving physical benefits, students who choose to practice karate are also eligible to earn their "belt," representing various levels of attainment. The only additional cost was a twenty-five dollar fee to cover the cost of the equipment. Lou Angelos

Soccer Team Serves as Club; Johnson Obituaries as Coach

This year the ORU soccer team will be operating as a club. Mr. Jack Johnson is the coach of the team and the assistant coach is Ed Van De Kieft. The team is planning a schedule with other teams in this part of Oklahoma.

The squad has been practicing since the beginning of school and has shown improvement over last year. Although many of the players lack experience, the outfit has potential. Team prayer before each game has made the squad a closely knit unit.

Players on the team are: David Bates from Harrisonville, Michigan; Paul Williams and Ken Fox from Los Angeles, California. Representing Canada are Leonard De-Zeuve from Trenton, Ontario; Carmen Davidson from Toronto, Ontario; and William Picens from Meadow Lake, Saskatchewan.

New Year to See More Sports Progress

Another school year brings another season of sports and this season promises to be truly outstanding. Those who understand sports programs have been amazed at how rapidly ORU has progressed in the past two years. The progression has been a successful one. And this year, ORU will amuse more people than ever before.

The Titans basketball season will open on November 18. This year's schedule will include major powers from the country's basketball world. In fact, the Titans will add one more international scope as they take on the Mexican Olympic Team. And our own team roster includes some of the best individual players in the country.

Truly, the ORU tennis team could only dream of a division of our sports program. Un- known last year, the no. 1 squad is expected to be in the country's top five this year. UCLA and Stanford are among some of the competition that will give us this ranking.

Experience and a new crop of freshmen should make for a bigger and better baseball squad this year. Coach Hatchett is also counting on the help of a few transfer students for another successful season.

The ORU soccer and golf teams are also looking forward to big years. Brand new this year is the ORU cross-country team.

Don Green is from Owings Mills, Maryland, and Bill Tschachak is from Clark, New Jersey. Gainesville, Georgia is the home of Arden Autry. Bill Burghal is from Memphis, Tennessee. Caleb Loo is from Taiwan and Dick Buens come from Houston, Texas.

Sam Ratzlaff is from Springfield, Missouri, Gary VanDeKieft is from the state of Iowa. Tom Tabor comes from Zion, Illinois and Joe Vossen is from Wauke-egan, Illinois.
