Students Take Part in Revival

Campus Poll Reveals Mixed Student Opinion

The second campus revival of the school year was held February 29, March 1, 2, and 3. Classes were dismissed on Friday, March 1, to allow students to attend two daytime services, and attendance was taken on that day. In an effort to ascertain campus reaction to the meetings, the following questions were asked of students: WHAT DO YOU THINK ABOUT THE DISMISSAL OF CLASSES FOR THE CAMPUS REVIVAL?

It gives a little extra time to prepare for the meetings. When the services are held only in the evening, there's no time to study.

Personally, I thought it was okay. The administration had planned it in the schedule since the first of the year, and I saw nothing wrong with it.

I thought it was great. It gave me a rest from more class assignments.

I was in favor of it. The idea behind it was to make it a day of prayer. It's a good idea for the whole campus to set aside a day to pray in unity.

It was better to dismiss classes one day than to have it drag on through the week.

For me, it was a good idea. For others, it was just a waste of time. But in the end, I think the good that the services accomplished justified the dismissal of classes.

WHAT DO YOU THINK ABOUT REQUIRED ATTENDANCE?

I think it was great. I knew I needed to go, but if they hadn't made me I certainly wouldn't have gone. I'm glad they required attendance.

I would have gone anyway, but just the thought of being made to go makes me want to rebel and run the other direction.

I think it might have been a good idea for one of the services on Friday, but for the morning and afternoon both I thought it was too much.

Think what the word revival means. Requiring attendance makes it seem like some kind of drudgery. They might as well change the name from revival to chapel.

I think that's the only way half the students would have attended.

Since the administration dismissed classes, I think they were entirely in their rights to require attendance.

I felt they sort of bargained by dismissing classes if students would agree to be spiritual for a weekend.

Don Shell leads as men students join in prayer.

DO YOU THINK WE SHOULD HAVE MORE CAMPUS REVIVALS OF THIS SORT?

Yes, because the campus needs to be revived. There is no such thing as a 'Christian University.' It's an individual thing. The students need to have something they can see, something they can become. The campus revival is a necessity.

Once a semester is enough. I'd never felt the spirit of revival until this one. If the scholar who spoke in the middle of the revival had been here at any other time, it

Dr. F. F. Bruce Featured As Guest Speaker

by Edna Kilgore

Dr. Frederick Fyvie Bruce, a Scottish layman from Buxton, Derbyshire, was the guest speaker for the chapel services Saturday night, March 2, and Sunday morning, March 3. Dr. Bruce, who had previously lectured in the United States, was here on a brief two-week tour during which time he spoke at Fuller Theological Seminary, ORU, and Southern Baptist Seminary.

SCHOLAR

Dr. Bruce received his education from Aberdine, Manchester, Cambridge, and Vienna, and received his doctorate from Aberdine. He has been the Ryland's Professor of Biblical Criticism and Exegesis at the University of Manchester since October, 1959 and was also the Dean of Faculty of Theology there in 1963.

Dr. Bruce was the President of Yorkshire Society for Celtic Studies, 1948-50, and the Society for Old Testament Study, in 1965. He has been the President of both Victoria Institute since 1958, and of Manchester Egyptian and Oriental Society since 1963.

He has also held the position of editor of Yorkshire Celtic Studies from 1945-57. Since 1949 he has been the editor of the Evangelical Quarterly and of the Palestine Exploration Quarterly since 1957.

NOTED AUTHOR

Moreover, Dr. Bruce has published seventeen books. His first book was published in 1947 titled, Are the New Testament Documents Reliable? Others followed soon after this: Second Thoughts on the Dead Sea Scrolls, in 1954; Biblical Exegesis in the Qumran Texts, in 1959; and The Spreading Flame, in 1958. The more recent works are Israel and the Nations, written in 1963; and Commentary On the Epistle to the Hebrews, written in 1964.

Dr. J. H. Greenlee of the ORU Graduate School of Theology remarked, "Professor Bruce was one of the most distinguished visitors that ORU has had since its opening." In a letter sent to Dr. Greenlee, Dr. Bruce expressed his appreciation both for the physical facilities he had seen here and for the spirit which he sensed.

ORU Drama To Open Soon

The Miracle Worker, by William Gibson, is the current project of the drama department. Presentation of the play will be Thursday through Saturday nights, March 28-30.

Based on the true story of Helen Keller, the play deals with the early years of Helen's life. It was during this time that Captain and Mrs. Keller hired a Miss Anne Sullivan, a partially blind young lady, to become governess for their deaf and blind child, Helen. The family held no hope for their daughter—she could neither hear, speak, nor see. The dramatic action unfolds as Annie realizes what a tremendous job lies before her, and attempts to "tame" a wild Helen, and teach her to live in the world as an intelligent human being.

Guest Director is Mrs. Kay Tuel, wife of Dr. John Tuel of the Psychology Department. Her Assistant Director is Eugene Boyd, and Gary Sulander is Stage Manager. Professor of Drama, Raymond Lewandowski, is in charge of technical production.

Acting in the five major roles are Rene Greenwood, as Helen; Beverly Schmidgal, as Annie Sullivan; Bob Russell, as Captain Keller; Cherie Woodard, as Mrs. Keller; and Dave Edmonds, as James Keller.

Heading the crews are Pat Campbell, manager of properties; Anita Blackwell, lighting director; and Lisa Johnson, programs.

Dave Edmonds, Bob Russell, Beverly Schmidgal, and Rene Greenwood enact scene from "The Miracle Worker" to be presented March 28, 29, 30, 8 p.m. Timko-Barton Auditorium.

Editorial

Here on Our Island . . .

If a stranger were to visit ORU for one day, and during the course of his stay he were to make it a point to ferret out the main topics of conversation, he would probably tune in on such red-hot issues of controversy as short skirts, the food in the cafeteria, whether or not chapel should be called chapel, and the dating habits of the ORU male. These pertinent issues, on which we as students expend so much time, energy, and hot air, are indicative of the level of social interest to which ORU-ians have thus far evolved.

Seldom do we enter into a fiery discussion on politics or national and international affairs. Instead, we are sinking deeply into the slime of isolationism and petty self-interest.

The disease of uninvolvement with the outside world has spread throughout the campus and festers without opposition in the barren domain of the ORU mind. It is time for each of us to awaken from our slothful slumber, attempt to arouse our fellow comrades, and begin to make at least a feeble attempt to relate to our environment. It falls to us as seekers after knowledge and truth to apply what we have learned in dealing with our fellow man beyond the hallowed halls of ORU.

We must now take a genuine interest in the social and political climate of our world. We must make it our business to become informed, develop opinions, and share them with others. Each of us must break out of our own little nucleus of interest and allow ourselves to be touched by the rest of humanity.

Our world is bounded only by infinity, not just Lewis and 81st. We must now allow the narrow limits of our minds to expand to reach those boundaries that we might make a worthwhile impression upon this, our universe.—R. Williams would have been good to hear his lectures.

Revival Poll

No, not this same sort of thing. I didn't like the way they crammed it into such a short period, and then the way they followed it with an intellectual speaker and billing his series of messages as continuous revival.

In the first place, I went into the revival very leery of what would happen because this campus is almost revival hardened. I think the real success was in the prayer meetings, individual prayers, and Rev. Tyson's devotions in the dorms. I think having revivals are even more important to maintain. I don't mean to discredit the revival, but I don't think it could have succeeded as it did without this type of preparation.

HOW WAS THE REVIVAL BENEFICIAL TO YOU PERSONALLY?

The student's committal service was especially beneficial to me more than any other service. I appreciated and loved the students on this campus like I had never done before.

I had been struggling with a critical and cynical attitude. God gave me a loving and forgiving spirit.

It helped me to grow spiritually. I know that's a little vague, but one can't be very specific when it comes to a personal experience. It was not only a breakthrough for the campus but for me as an individual as well.

I think it helped almost everyone who went and actively participated.

It would have benefited me if I'd gone.

In all the three years I've been here, I hadn't felt the Holy Spirit moving as strongly as it did in this last revival.

Why Are You Here?

Why are you really here? What is really compelling your attendance at ORU?

Is it the so-called glamor of being away at the famed Oral Roberts University, the university equipped with the latest in electronic media and the ultimate in academic and living facilities? Or are you dodging the draft? Are you looking for a husband? Did your parents bribe you with something? Are you obsessed with studying? Are you an egotist? Is ORU your favorite travel agency? Are you here only because you got a full athletic scholarship? Couldn't you cope with a worldly school?

If you can answer affirmatively any one of the above questions, perhaps a re-examination of your basic motivation for being here is in order.

Think of this: What I am to be, I am now becoming. Each day is a down payment on eternity. What are you becoming? What kind of down payments are you making?

Senate Acts on Problems

by Bob Durst

In answer to memos sent to the Administration the Student Senate has learned that action had or would be taken on their recommendations. As a result, the chuck-holes in the front entrance have been fixed, and the walk between the two dorms will be fixed for drier walking. Can-Coke machines have been put in each dorm with the understanding that the empty cans will be properly disposed of by the students. The Administration has also agreed to keep the dorms open over Easter vacation with no extra cost except for meals. After receiving applications and reviewing the candidates, the Senate has appointed Darol Jack as the new Social Commissioner.

In their meeting of February 12, the Senate discussed what the students would want in the Student Union and sent several memos to the Administration advising them of their suggestions. A special committee also met with President Roberts and others to advise them of student wishes.

On February 19, Mrs. Pauline Leckey reported to the Senate that each class would have to take a part of the responsibility before ORU could have a Spring Formal this year.

The President's Corner

Time for True Test

by Eric Fiscus

Building a curriculum, establishing a student governmental system, developing new facilities, and all the other aspects of building an entirely new university have until now occupied all our time and energy. So far, ORU has been judged by these efforts. Our current reputation rests on the successes achieved in formulating and using the newest methods and facilities.

However, beginning with the next two years, a different criterion will be used to judge ORU—the graduating students. Our school will be rated by the quality of its product: the students—us.

When we graduate, our lives will not terminate and begin again. The only tools we can use to shape tomorrow will be the interests and abilities of today. We need to turn our attention from ourselves; extend our current interests to the corresponding areas in the world outside.

As The Walrus said, The time has come to speak of many things. Instead of concentrating on the petty issues of our small world, we need to expand our interests and, in doing so, we will not be completely out of step when we leave the world of ORU.

Fuzzy Wuzzy

Shaving Less and Enjoying It More?

Fuzzy Wuzzy was a bear,
Fuzzy Wuzzy had no hair.
Fuzzy Wuzzy wasn't fuzzy,
Was he?

If Fuzzy Wuzzy were among the male population of ORU, the answer to that question could be a resounding Yes! For of late there have been a few brave souls who have produced varying degrees of hairy outgrowths, otherwise known as mustaches and sideburns.

In a recent survey conducted among ORU students, mustaches were rated all the way from kissable to gross. Take a look in the mirror—is your mustache precious, cute, darling, sexy, rugged, distinguished, tough, crummy, scraggly, punky, dirty, or just plain ridiculous?

One psychology major describes the growing of a mustache as a forced conformity to one's peer group, while another student states that his mustache aids in keeping the smell of the cafeteria food out of his nose.

Other comments made in referring to mustaches and sideburns include:

I love them.

I hate them.

If my boyfriend grew a mustache, I'd shoot him!

Sideburns keep my ears warm.

Chigger Jungle.

They're only a symbol.

I don't like them on girls.

God looketh on the heart . . .

They're fun to play with.

They're only a passing fancy.

The whole mess is kind of hairy.

I don't have to worry about mustaches; my boyfriend couldn't grow one anyway.

Perhaps the most enthusiastic response was given when a group of students was approached in the cafeteria, and the whole crowd roared, They're great!

Baptists to Present Folk Music Fest

On Friday, March 22, at 7:00 p.m. the Chapel Choir of Immanuel Baptist Church, 1915 East Third Street, will present a city-wide Folk Song Festival and production of "Good News," a new religious folk-musical.

The first half of the program will consist of folk singers and folk groups—junior high through college age. If you are interested in performing on the program, you may call the Music Office at Immanuel (LU 7-8431) for more information. All talent will audition before a screening committee and only the best talent will be selected.

In addition to the informal folk singing, the Chapel Choir will present "Good News." This new religious folk-musical, written and staged somewhat like a Broadway musical, is the story of Christian youth being challenged by a non-Christian. The contemporary rhythmic beat of calipso, bossa nova, and "folk" style music seeks to capture the attention of the audience and present the Gospel of Christ to modern-day hearers. "Good News" will be presented under the direction of Mr. Philip R. Lambert, Minister of Music. All folk singers and "listeners" are urged to attend.

Easter Service

At 7 p.m., March 31, the Abundant Life Chapel will present in the Timko-Barton Auditorium its annual Easter Special. Being presented on Passion Sunday, the service will feature in dramatic sight and sound the major events of Christ's life leading to his death. Communion will begin the major part of the service, as each event in the tragic death of Christ is recounted. Special sound effects and lighting, a host of musical groups, and a challenging message will contribute to make this a tremendous evening.

Two Future Teachers Profiled As Seniors Near Graduation

by Sandy LaLalan

The purpose of this series of articles is to recognize the students of Oral Roberts University who will graduate this coming May. These students realize the responsibility they have as they face the future, for what they accomplish will reflect the training they received at this university. ORU is proud of its first senior class and anticipates the success of each of its members in whatever field or occupation he or she enters.

Rose Lanick is a senior from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, who spent her first year of college at the University of Colorado. She then transferred to ORU where she is majoring in English and minoring in education. While at ORU, Rose studied the Russian language for two years and is presently active in the Russian Club on campus.

Rose has a long-standing interest in education, and her goal is to help young people communicate and achieve a better understanding of their world. Rose plans to continue her education and to work for a master's degree of Teaching Arts before teaching on the high school level.

Another active member of the

senior class is Lynn Thomas from Pleasantville, New Jersey. Lynn last year was a member of yearbook staff and presently serves as the secretary of the senior class.

Before coming to ORU, Lynn attended Bob Jones University for two years. While at Bob Jones, she participated in "child evangelism," a program that sends groups of young people to poverty-stricken areas. The members of the groups conducted Sunday School and taught the children of the area about the Bible.

In regard to her approaching graduation, Lynn said, "After spending almost seventeen years in school, it's going to seem strange to be out!" Lynn is an elementary education major and she will soon begin student teaching in one of Tulsa's elementary schools. She would like to teach the second grade and will probably teach in either Tulsa or Illinois. Lynn is also considering spending a year abroad with a World Action team, but as yet she has not made any definite plans. About the future, she said, "Even though the future seems uncertain, if one will dedicate everything to the Lord, he will find that things will work out."

Weaver Wins Title

Josie Weaver, a freshman at Oral Roberts University, was recently crowned queen of the Miss Show-a-Rama Pageant

which was held at Kansas City, Missouri. The pageant concluded a convention held for exhibitors and producers in the movie industry.

Miss Weaver entered the contest by submitting her photograph to the judging committee and was chosen as one of the six finalists from a group of over 350 girls.

The six finalists competed in a talent division, a swimsuit division, and a personal interview. In addition, competition included personality and poise.

Asked how she felt about her new title, Josie remarked, It's a great honor, but it involves a lot of work, too. The new queen received a formal evening gown, a large silver tray, and a movie contract for a picture to be filmed during the latter part of the summer. Also, Josie had the honor of meeting special celebrities including Charlton Heston, Raquel Welch, Stella Stevens, George Jessel, Gene Kelly, and Don Wilson.

Mumus, Leis, Dress for Luau Day

"Let your hair down" is the command for the ORU Luau Day coming up on March 22. Brightly colored shirts, mumus, leis, and any other clothing resembling Hawaiian dress will be the order for the day.

In the evening, there will be a special luau buffet supper during the regular dinner hours with piped-in Hawaiian music and Hawaiian decor to complete the atmosphere.

Luau Day will end with one showing of the double feature "Hawaii, the State of Paradise"—a color travelogue-like film, and "Journey to the Center of the Earth," a color science-fiction movie starring Pat Boone and Arlene Dahl. Admission will be thirty-five cents.

Mademoiselle Clement Adds French Flavor to Faculty and Student Life

by Marcia Robinson

Coming to ORU from the small town of Bois-Columbes (the Wood of Doves) in France, Anne Clément is a new addition to the faculty as an instructor in Modern French Literature. She is also enrolled in three undergraduate courses: Educational Psychology, Augustine Period English, and Christian Ministry.

Ann lives in the suburbs of Paris with her father, Rev. Bernard Clément, mother, and three brothers—Pierre, 20; Yves, 17; and Bernard Jr., 16. She received her degree from Faculté des Lettres et Sciences humaines de Natterre Académie de Paris.

In France, students attend school for twelve years, as do U.S. students, before entering college; but college only includes three years of study. All high school subjects must be taken without selection. Anne noted that at the end of their high school education, the French students are intellectually exhausted, and it is difficult for them to choose a field of study for college, while American youth seem refreshed and ready for further study.

French college students take only the courses related to their chosen fields of study, and exams are given annually. If a student fails twice for a given year of study, he is expelled. Only 30 to 50 per cent of the students are able to pass their exams.

Anne stated that there is no psychological threat of the draft in France, which hangs heavy over each American boy. America doesn't seem to be at war because the way of life has not changed. War should have consequences on the welfare of the average American, the one who is carefree and fun-loving. The American is a great child. Yet that is why the French like Americans, the merry fellows who can get excited easily.

Since coming to ORU, Anne Clément feels that she has learned two main lessons. One is to discipline herself in her prayer life to meet her daily needs. The other is to avoid passing judgment on the appearance of those around her. French standards vary, too, but it has been harder to control reactions over here. In this way she has learned to overcome an indifference toward fellow students that is prevalent in French colleges.

Phys Ed Offers Archery

by Joel Vasanen

Archery, an age-old sport, has been added as a physical education class at Oral Roberts University this semester. Two classes, totaling about thirty students, meet at three and four o'clock every Tuesday and Thursday. The instructor is Miss Joan Cartilage, a student in the Graduate School.

The classes spent the first few weeks watching instructional films and slides on the bow and arrow, on shooting form, and on point of aim. Then they advanced to working on basic bow techniques, such as keeping the bow-hand still and learning consistency.

The class practices on 42-inch straw targets on their range south of the tennis courts. Most of the archers in the class use bows of from fifteen to twenty-five pounds pull. (The poundage of a bow is determined by the amount of force required to pull the bowstring all the way back to the shooting position.)

In tournaments, competition is at various distances. A competitor will shoot a round of six arrows from each distance. A bullseye counts nine points. Each succeeding circle outward counts two points less all the way down to one point for a hit on the outermost ring on the target. The goal of every archer is to get a round of "six gold", which is six bullseyes out of six shots. This is an extremely difficult accomplishment to achieve in actual competition.

If you should be walking in the field south of the tennis courts on a Tuesday or Thursday afternoon, you might be on the lookout for stray arrows!

Music Contest

The Tulsa District Music Festival will bring about 1500 junior high and senior high students to Oral Roberts University today and tomorrow for vocal solo and ensemble competition. The students come from schools in Tulsa and surrounding towns.

Approximately 2500 students from the same schools will come to ORU Monday and Tuesday for the instrumental, solo and ensemble competition.

Pattison Speaks

Dr. George Pattison, associated with Interchurch Team Ministries, spoke in the Seminary Chapel service on March 6.

Before being filled with the Holy Spirit six years ago, Dr. Pattison was Rector of St. Andrews Cathedral in Prince Rupert, British Columbia. He received his B.A. from the University of Toronto and his D.D. from Wycliff College.

Since joining the Interchurch Team ministries, Dr. Pattison has travelled extensively throughout the U.S. and Europe, holding laymens, and ministers, seminars on the work and moving of the Holy Spirit.

Dr. Pattison feels there is a great hunger among clergy in all denominations for a more real relationship with Christ through the manifestation of the fruits of the Spirit.

Titans End '67-68 Season in Triumph

Hodge, Reed Conclude Final Year of Play

With the close of the basketball season also comes the sad task of saying farewell to those players who have completed their careers as members of the team. For the Titans, this is an especially difficult task this year. The quantity, only two, is not very great, but the qualities of those two makes it a most difficult farewell.

Bobby Hodge and Mel Reed came to the Titans two years ago after outstanding junior college careers and immediately became mainstays on the Titan team.

Bobby Hodge has scored 787 points in 50 games for an average of 15.7 per game. He made 52 per cent of his field goal attempts and 86 per cent of his free throws during the last two years. Though only 5' 8" and normally playing far from the basket on both offense and defense, Bobby grabbed 140 rebounds for the Titans during his two seasons.

In his two seasons, Mel Reed has scored 712 points for an average of 14.2 per game. After starting at center during his first season, Mel switched to forward this year. For the two seasons, Mel connected on 51 per cent of his shots from the field and grabbed 382 rebounds in his two years.

The man who knows their value more than anyone, Coach Bill White, will tell you that even though their record is outstanding, their leadership and courage will be the things that are missed the most. As each of these outstanding athletes were introduced prior to the start of the final game, the entire crowd came to their feet and showed their appreciation for their fine play and sportsmanship with a full minute of applause.

by Don Amez

It's history. Oral Roberts University's Titans brought down the curtain on the 1967-68 basketball season on February 26 with a ringing 109-72 victory over Nebraska Wesleyan University. That win made the Titans' final season record read 18 wins against only 6 losses, which is the best record any Titan team has posted in its three years of competition.

White
"points to ponder" about the year just ended.

Shirley

After every athletic season is completed, everyone likes to look back at what has been accomplished and we are no exception to this rule. So here are just a few of the

AS A TEAM:

- 1) The Titans scored more than 100 points eight times during the season.
- 2) The most points scored by the Titans in one game was 125 against the University of Corpus Christi.

- 3) The largest separation in scoring in any game of the season was in the final game (ORU 109, Nebraska Wesleyan 72).

Reed

- 4) Highest point output by a Titan opponent was 95 by Oklahoma Christian College.
- 5) In the season the Titans outscored their opponents by an average of 13 1/2 points per game. (ORU scored an average of 90.1 while their defense held opponents to an average of 76.6 points per game.)

Hardaway

- 6) In the twenty-four games this season, the Titan players hit .509% of their shots from the field. (This ranked 18th in the latest NAIA statistics.)

INDIVIDUAL MARKS:

- 1) Dana Lewis won team scoring honors for the season with 383 total points and an average of 16.0 per game. (This title was won from Bobby Hodge in the last game as both players had 350 points going in. Bobby ended the season with 367 total points and a 15.3 game average.)

Hull

- 2) Bill Hull had the team's best field goal shooting percentage, hitting .539% of his shots. But his victory was not without challenge. Two other players, Marv Thouvenel (.532%) and Carl Hardaway (.529%), were as close as an eye-lash.

- 3) Bobby Hodge was the best free throw shooter on the team

Hodge

- and, it is very possible, the best in the nation as he hit .912% of his charity shots. The latest NAIA statistics show Bobby in the number one spot nationally and there is less than one week for anyone to catch him. Marv Thouvenel hit .921% of his free throws in the season but his 38 attempts were not enough to qualify him for the championship.

Lewis

- 4) Dana Lewis pulled down 245 rebounds on the season to lead the team in this department. He averaged 10.2 rebounds per game.
- 5) Six players averaged more than ten points per game for the season. They were Dana Lewis, 16.0; Bobby Hodge, 15.3; Richie Williams, 12.8; Bill Hull, 12.5; Carl Hardaway, 11.8; and Mel Reed, 10.8.

- 6) Most points scored by a single player in one game were 37 by Dana Lewis against Langston University.

Williams

- 7) The most free throws made in one game by an individual player were 9 of 9 by Bobby Hodge. That record was also made against Langston University.
- 8) Most rebounds in one game were 22 by Dana Lewis in the final game of the season.

Czech Tennis Champion Joins Team

by Skip Schulze

The newest addition to the Oral Roberts University tennis team is Ivan Mikysa. His home is in Kolin, Czechoslovakia, where he lives with his father, mother, and brother. Mr. Mikysa is a bank clerk in Prague, and Ivan's younger brother is on the junior champion hockey team of Czechoslovakia.

Ivan is the sixth ranking tennis player in Czechoslovakia. He enjoys playing soccer as well as basketball and he previously ranked second in the giant ski slalom in the junior division. During his tennis career, he has competed in Sweden, Switzerland, France, Germany, Bulgaria, Italy, Luxemburg, Hungary, Yugoslavia, and in the Moscow Tournament where he finished eighth.

Ivan was contacted this last summer through the recruiting program of Coach Bernis Duke. Coach Duke wrote a letter to the Czechoslovakian woman champion, Vera Sukova, and asked her to recommend someone who could come to ORU to play tennis and also continue his education. She recommended Ivan.

Ivan is a business major and has previously taken some business courses at the University of Prague, which, he proudly stated, is one of the oldest universities in Europe, having been built in 1378. Ivan is presently interested in studying the free enterprise system of the United States.

In answer to questions directed to him concerning the United States and his impressions, he stated, The food is about the same in the United States, but the bread is much better in Europe . . . I was amazed at the shopping centers . . . The food is cheaper over here . . . It takes one week's work at home to buy a good pair of shoes . . . I enjoyed my trip to Palm Beach very much . . . ORU is the most modern school I have ever seen . . . I like the United States very much . . . The people in the United States are friendlier . . . The people in Europe are more reserved when they first meet.

When asked about his country and culture, he replied, "In Prague there are about fifty theaters of drama . . . U.S. dramatics are known in Europe . . . Soccer is the most popular sport followed by ice hockey, basketball, volleyball, and tennis . . . Classical music and reading books are two of the biggest pastimes . . . Ten years ago it was dangerous to go to church but now it is normal . . . Roman Catholics are the largest group, but there are many Evangelicals (Presbyterians, Lutherans, and others also) . . . Mostly it is the older people who go to church . . . People in Czechoslovakia have a high regard for people in the United States . . . They remember the Americans liberating them in World War II."

Booters to Compete for First Tulsa Soccer Club

by Bill Techanchuk

The soccer team of ORU tuned up for the first annual Tulsa Soccer Cup Championship play-offs by trouncing the Mexican Lions Soccer Club 9-1 here last Saturday in an exhibition game.

The Titans drew first blood by scoring only 10 seconds after the opening whistle and led throughout the rest of the game. The Titans controlled the ball and pounded away at the Mexican goal. Scoring for the Titans were Dave Bates, 4; Joel Vasanen, 3; and John Wakefield, 2.

ORU, with an overall record of 11-4-3, came in third place in the eastern division of the Oklahoma Soccer League with a 6-3-3 league record.

On March 16, the ORU soccer team begins a series of three games against the other three local Tulsa soccer teams. The two teams with the most overall points (two points for a win, one for a tie) will then play a final championship game for the Tulsa Soccer Cup.

The schedule for ORU is as follows: Saturday, March 16, ORU vs. Tulsa International Club, here; Saturday, March 23, ORU vs. Mexican Lions, here; Saturday, March 30, ORU vs. Tulsa University, at TU.

Through dedication and hard work, the ORU Soccer Team has developed from an inexperienced group of boys into what might literally be considered one of the best teams in the state. Teamwork and great desire could have helped to accomplished this.
