Construction continues at a rapid pace at Oral Roberts University, with the addition of an apartment to the south wing of the first floor of the Home High Rose, the enlarging of the entrance to the Will for the purpose of making a larger lobby and a central entrance to the building, and preparations for construction of the new chapel.

Tuesday President Oral Roberts presented, with Architect Frank Wallage, the plans for the new chapel to the Student Senate. The design will furnish 30 seats and will have the same hours as the library and present language lab. The plans for the structure will be completed in excess of four million dollars when it is finally completed. This will include a large chapel auditorium, a smaller chapel, offices, and classrooms.

At present, only the chapel auditorium will be constructed. Thirty cassette audio-comparators will be used in the lab and will enable students to tape their own voices. This will include a portable cassette duplicator which records six cassettes at once, but it still takes a lot of work.

Committee okay major

Dr. Roy Hayden, Chairman of the Curriculum Committee, has announced the committee's approval of a liberal arts major. The degree of Bachelor of Liberal Arts includes the freshman and sophomore years. The junior and senior course work will be planned by the student and an advisor as by Hamilton, Dean of Academic Affairs. The program includes a selection thesis, at least two areas of concentration, and a minimum of 40 semester hours of course work. The general problem will be divided into upper division courses.

Any grade below "C" in the planned program will not be counted toward fulfilling the planned 60 hours. Any course out of the major or minor areas of concentration can be taken on a pass-fail basis.

Language cassette lab aids learning process

In keeping with the university's reputation as a center for instruction and learning, the Oral Roberts University Foreign Languages Department recently received the opening of an additional language lab. The lab is located in the RC Room 232C next Monday. The lab will furnish 30 seats and have the same hours as the library and present language lab.

Thirty cassette audio-comparators will be used in the lab and will enable students to tape their own voices. This will include a portable cassette duplicator which records six cassettes at once, but it still takes a lot of work.

Draft bill to eliminate future college deferments

A new draft bill was sent to President Nixon last week extending his power to induct men into the Armed Services for two years. Provisions of the bill included pay raises for enlisted men as well as changes in deferment policies. Under the new bill, undergraduate deferments received before 1972 will be required to serve for the remaining time.

Also included in the bill is a change in the status of diversity students. Those students holding diversity deferments are no longer "exempted" from the draft. They will now be "deferred" until they reach the age of 35.

'Grapevine' on trial run

The Student Senate Communications Committee began last weekend a trial audio program that was heard on the dial across the system. The program, which runs seven minutes, is named "Grapevine."

"Grapevine," if it is continued in the committee hopes, will establish a medium of communication on campus that will help keep the students informed about what is happening.

Each program will include news of the Student Senate and its business. There will be sports news and a commentary-editorial read by Bill Jutze. Students are urged to submit commentary-editorials and express their opinions about subjects that are of current interest at ORU. They should be sent to Dave Henderson or Lowry Perry in the Men's Judicial Board.

Japanese girls discover Americans 'easy to meet'

by Gracey Anderson

Recent research has shown that what looked like beautiful chickens in the popular magazines, are for an Oriental smile and an American 'Sure I'm ready to be interviewed.' Another girl, with different features but the same upper class status, also declared on an open house she was having and extracted, 'Yes Americans are so easy to meet!' These two girls are Michio Oshima and Yoshiko Matsumura, freshmen at Oral Roberts University from Japan.

What would it be like to drive for over two hours to get to the ko.

Michiko is mastering twelve and one-half hours on ORU. She has not declared her major yet.

She had six years of junior and senior high school, and math, from England, was her favorite subject. According to Michiko, the math books here are easier.

'I have none' was the response from Michiko when asked about her spare time. When demanded that she should have nothing to do, she said,

'when

Buddhism was Michiko's religion in Japan. However, it is not practiced today except weddings. She said,

'I am glad I learned to commu-more than just in my head.'

Michiko would like to gradu-Pretently she has no program

Japan or stay here.

What would she take after

The hardest thing for Yoshiko to get used to was couples elep-hing in America. Also, she had to adjust to what are locally called POA's at ORU. "Your frank and main difference from the Japaattended an Episcopal church; there she is going to a Baptist

How did Yoshiko hear about ORU over way in Japan? Her English instructor over there, who was also president of Japan Tipp-perware and other companies, told her about this university and sent Yoshiko to the U.S. She attended the last Easter seminar.

NEWSBRIEFS

by Lowell Burch

Within the last year or two, bicycle riding has become one of the most popular pastimes in the nation. Millions of men, women, students and children have taken up cycling.

"Ecology enthusiasts got the wheels turning by riding bicycles in an effort to prevent air polution. In the process of keeping the air clean, the ecologists learned that pumping a two-wheeler is not only practical ecologically, but economical and fun, too.

Since the enjoyable and economic aspects have become dominant, the sport of bicycle riding has spread even to ORU! Students who have bikes at ORU ride them for fun, for cheap transportation, or for both.

"I like to ride my bike and I like to get off campus, you know, a little freedom. I do it for a hobby," said Jane Wright, freshman.

Debi Chaste, also a freshman, stated her reason for riding a bicycle, "It's the only transportation I have. I work about five miles from the school so I take my bike. I could get a ride and some of the girls take me, but I have always ridden. It is helpful for me and I enjoy it."

Freshman Dennis Hesse simply claims, "It's cheaper than a car."

The popularity of bicycles is growing at ORU. With as many as three bikes arriving here each week, there are almost 40 bicycles at ORU now. They range from the standard, one-speed, balanced-tired bike to the lightweight, three-speed English Rader to the highly refined, 10-speed deluxe.

The bicycles are stored everywhere: on the dorm porches, on the stair landings and even in students' rooms. Senior David Mackenzie, a cyclist also, is heeding a committee which is drawing up a proposal for registering bikes and finding storage for them. Bicycle racks are being planned, the cost to be split between the Student Senate and the school.

Proposed sites for the racks are:
1) Under the northeast porch of the girls' dormitory, 2) in the basement of the men's dormitory, or 3) near the loading dock on the east side of Timko-Barton. If possible, sites 1 and 2 will be utilized.

"I think bicycling has a lot to offer. I hope it becomes more popular at ORU in the coming years," commented MacKenzie.

David went on to say that he hopes there will be a bicycle club at ORU in the near future.

The purpose of the club would be to organize bicycle rides and to help maintain the bikes, particularly those belonging to girls.

Will a bicycle club emerge at ORU? If bicycles continue to multiply on campus, it appears to be a very likely result!

82 qualify for Honor Society

A meeting has been scheduled

Monday, Oct. 4, for students eligible for membership in the ORU Honor Society. This is a 60 percent increase over last year and is due mainly to some 50 sophomores having attained the necessary 3.5 GPA, according to Bob Brown, Honor Society president.

The Senate has already appointed members of the Honor Society to the Academic

Advisory, Curriculum, and LRC

Committees. At the Monday meeting, members will consider further ways to enlarge the society's field of service. They will continue six weeks of the administrations residencies embodying the problems with illuminations on various aspects of the academic setting.

Officers, in addition to Brown, are Troy Vereide, vice-president, Peter Wlsh and Carol Burkhart, secretary.

Performances begin

"A Man for All Seasons" is scheduled for performances to-tight, tomorrow night and Monday night, Oct. 1, 2, and 4 at 8 p.m. in the Timko-Barton lobby. Seating is limited.

Ecologists plan exhibit

The National Panorama of Conservation Action, representing a major cooperative effort by eight leading national organizations in the fields of conservation, antipollution, and animal protection, will visit Tulsa Oct.

5-9.

The Panorama, a colorful exhibit designed to tell by means of giant-size, illuminated photography what needs doing in the ecological crisis and what is being done, will be presented free at Southroads Mall.

Symposium scheduled

A symposium will be presented for all language, English, and humanities faculty and students

Saturday, Oct. 2, at Ziopeit Auditorium. Topic for the morning session scheduled from 10 a.m. to 12 noon is "The Psychological to the Existential Novel in Europe." Faculty are urged to attend a luncheon at noon in dining room 207A. The afternoon session from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. will be conducted in Spanish with the topic to be drama of the 19th century, specifically Jose

Zorrilla's works Don Juan Tenorio and Tristram, Linceo y mary. A question-and-answer per-don will follow.

Tryouts slated

Alma Teller announced that tryouts for "The Rainmaker" will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 5 and 6 in LRC 235. Copies of the play will be at the circulation desk in the library today.

Russian Club meets

The entire student body is invited to a meeting of the Russian Fellowship Monday, Oct. 4, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. The meeting, to be held in the Fireside

Room, will include the sharing of adventures a student team experienced behind the Iron Corner. Although the trip to Russia this past summer,

"Why not ride a bike?" asks Dave Patton, right, as he chats with Bob Brown, who is "feeling it." Ten new members have been added to ORU's "Spirit Family." The group—consisting of cheerleaders, pompon girls, and school mascots—is the first in four years to employ a boy-girl squad.

Three new cheerleaders, five pompon girls, and two mascots were chosen Sept. 15. They include Marilynda Brown, freshman; Lynn Ecker, freshman; and Tom Kodman, junior, on the cheerleading squad. Pompon girls are Gail Bennett, freshman; Pat Green, junior; Paula Findt, freshman; Nancy Kreniel, freshman; and Rosemary Synowski, freshman. Mascots are sophomores Joy North and Steve Wallace.

The selection of the new squad members fell under the jurisdiction of a panel of seven faculty and student leaders. These were President Oral Roberts; Helen Inbody, Dean of Women; Sharon Burton, cheerleading coach; Sam McCamey, basketball captain; Dwayne Roe, basketball coach; Rod Jacobsen, president of Student Senate; and Mary Smith, pompon and cheerleading captain.

The outfits worn this year by the squad will set the precedent for following basketball seasons. Another tradition-setting first for ORU, the pompon girls will work with the cheerleaders to present half-time entertainment.

A description of the mascots' outfits has not been disclosed, as it is intended to be a surprise. The two mascots, Mary Smith pointed out, "are fast, free, and will add much to the spirit of the school.

Jr. varsity "yell leaders" will be chosen in the near future, and all students interested in such a position are encouraged to attend the clinics when announced.

"Since all those who want to get seats for the varsity games will have to attend at least part of the jr. varsity's game, we want these yello leaders to be good," Mary Smith reported.

The cheerleading squad chosen last spring includes Mary Smith, captain; a junior; Craig Fuller- ton, co-captain; sophomore; June Crain, secretary-treasurer; sophomore; Marcia Carter, junior; and Bob Perins, sophomore.

The new members added to those chosen last semester bring a total of 15 into the "Spirit Family."

"We have to work together like a family because that's the only way we can be good," explained Mary Smith.

Student support needed to extend library hours

Representative government, while it is certainly desirable in the context of the Anglo-Saxon and American heritage of freedom and rights handed to many of us, has often been proven slow and inefficient, sometimes even unable to cope with the problems it faces.

When such failures occur, the disappointed constituency vent their wrath on the representatives. They are sometimes justified, sometimes not. The apathetic don't bother to comment.

The relevance of this to Oral Roberts University students at this time centers around the opening of the Learning Resources Center for study on Saturday evenings and possibly on Sunday nights also. An opinion poll taken by the Oracle this week indicates overwhelming support for the Saturday night opening. While some conceded that they would not use it every Saturday night, they saw the practicality of its opening for others who might have need of it.

Students should realize that they do not have to do a great deal of persuasion to get an extension on the library hours. William Jernigan, Director of Libraries, has stated that he will seek to open the library at the time students desire and can show that they will make minimum utilization needed to justify operation costs. It is up to the Student Senate to submit a request to Jernigan, who will then forward it to the President's Council, which is responsible for approving, modifying, or rejecting the student proposal.

Many students have agreed that the library should be opened, but have carried it no farther than the person across the table in the cafeteria or the "rap" session in the dorm. The "silent majority" has come up with the correct answers but has not put "legs" on the answers. The "legs" are the Student Senate, the elected representatives of the student body.

Will the Student Senate get around to the question of the library hours extension? The answer is a sure yes—if the students exert pressure and talk to their representatives about taking action. The machiery of student government will move in that direction much more slowly, however, if students keep wishing the library would be open and study quietly while the Senate meets each Tuesday morning.

Should the Senate act without student pressure, it will still come up with a request less than representative of the students. In order for it to come up with a response to the library problem that will comprehensively state the student needs and give good reasons for further library hours, the students must speak.

Questions that need to be answered, for example, are, should the LRC be open on Saturday nights only, or also on Sunday nights? Will enough students patronize the library on Saturday nights with such attractions as "A Man for All Seasons," the All-School Talent Show, and campus movies? Are the students not making enough use of the library between 3 and 5:30 p.m., when they might get their needed studying done?

We urge the students of ORU to vocalize their thoughts and needs on this matter to the Senate, and we urge the Senate to take quick action on this matter. We believe that student response will show the need for the LRC to be open at least one more night, and we urge that some time extension be sought and granted. The time is now!
Oil governor will address Senate

Oklahoma Intercollegiate Legislature (OLL) Governor Dick Shelley and Lt. Governor Eddy Younig will address the Oral Roberts University Student Senate during a dinner meeting, Oct. 5.

In addition to explaining OIL and its functions to Senate, the executive officers will meet with Brian Stalwick, ORU delegation chairman, to prepare for the next Interim Session. The Interim Session will be held on the ORU campus, Saturday, Oct. 23.

The Fall Legislative Session will be Nov. 11-14 in Oklahoma City. Legislation for the session must be submitted by Nov. 1. "If any student has an idea for legislation or would like to help draw up the bills, he should contact me as soon as possible," said Stalwick. "Our delegation represents the students of ORU, and we want to accurately represent their views." Stalwick can be reached at extension 2888. OIL is a unified body of more than 26 Oklahoma colleges and universities. It provides an opportunity for students to learn the legislative processes and practical problems of state government through participation.

In a direct response to the content of this column in the Sept. 10 issue of the Oracle, Jim Kirby, junior class treasurer, submitted the proposal to Senate an amendment to Article V, Sections A and B, of the Constitution of the Associated Student Body of Oral Roberts University.

The amendment calls for a slight change in the method of selecting Senate committee chairman and committee members. The change is designed to allow only those students who are qualified to serve on the committees and to prevent the selection of students whom Senate members do not know. If Senate committee members are important, then it is important that only those in whom Senate has complete confidence be appointed.

The amendment to Section A was passed. It states that "candidates for Chairman must submit to the Senate a paragraph and/or appear in person before the Senate to state their qualifications and reasons for desiring the appointment." It also insures that Senate members will know for whom they are voting.

Similar requirements for committee members were not passed. Yet, Senate will have to approve the selection of those members. If Senate members continue to approve the appointments of people unknown to them, Senate approval may become a mere rubber stamp.

Injuries fracture football play by Thom Clark

Most sports fans, especially those in the armchair variety, stand firm on the promise that the team that gets the breaks will win the ball game, provided the breaks are not of the composed, complex, and the composed-complex variety.

Although such major injuries are the exception rather than the rule, the injury rate thus far in the intramural football program is running rather high.

Nurse Rine of the Health Center said, "I would say in just speaking from memory that the number of injuries is up from last year."

Linksters share third

The Oral Roberts University Titans, competing without their two top golfers, tied for third place in the Twin Hills Invitational Golf Tournament in Joplin, Mo., last Friday.

Senior Ted Gellert and sophomore Dave Finlar were unable to play because of previous commitments to a local tournament here in Tulsa.

The one-day, 18-hole tournament, hosted by the University of Missouri-Kansas City, was the Titans' first tournament this season.

Coach Myron Root said that, "It was a good effort for us, the team showing was an improvement over last year when ORU finished fifth."

According to Coach Pape, the tournament gave him a good look at some of his younger players and was also a tune-up for the team's trip to Albuquerque.
