"Roberts addresses interim Session

"God is concerned about man, He concerned about man's body, mind, and spirit," said President Oral Roberts when he addressed the October Interim Session of the Oklahoma Inter-college Legislature (OLL) last Monday morning in Coppel Auditorium.

"Education is only an instrument," continued Roberts as he stressed the importance of the whole man concept of Oral Roberts University. "This university is unique and cannot be compared with others, because we are not trying to be like other universities. We are trying to create an environment where the students, the faculty, and the administrative staff will have feelings for one another as persons and not as things.

OLL Governor Rick Shelby presided over the morning session at which Roberts spoke. Accompanying Shelby was Lt. Gov.- ernor Harry Hewlett. Representatives of at least ten Oklahoma universities discussed the House and Senate rules which will be in effect during the 1971 Fall Legislative Session, Nov. 1-14.

The delegates to the fall session (the second session of the third legislature) will meet in the House and Senate chambers of the State Legislature in Okla-Homer, OK, to send five delegates to the session.

Anyone interested in helping OLL as a full delegate for the fall session should contact Brian Stahlwick, ORU's delegation chairman, at extension 2888.

Senate plans fete Oct. 30

Two hayrides, a Dracul-a Daughter flight, and plenty of refreshments will be included in the all-school Halloween party to be held at Indian National Park Oct. 30. Sponsored by Student Senate, tickets for the event are available in the Student Center cafeteria this week for one dollar.

For those students who don't have motored boats, a bus will be provided and leave from outside the Student Center at 6:15, and ending June 30, 1972. This approval was vital because it enabled students to secure teaching positions throughout the United States even though ORU was not then accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

In Sept, ad hoc committees were appointed to analyze and fulfill the recom-

State evaluation team commends department

The State Department of Education Evaluation Team visited the Oral Roberts University campus last week and unanimously recom-dended Dr. Mandolin Ray and the faculty for their development and maintenance of "a very excellent teacher education program." The visitation team also extended the certification programs for teacher education to June 30, 1974.

The evaluation team consisted of Donald Stacey, Principal of Key Elementary School in Tulsa; Dr. Carl Oliver, Associate Dean of College, University of Tulsa; Ronald Carpenter, Director of Teacher Education and Certification, State Department of Education; and Dr. Earl Reynolds, Director of Teacher Education, Southwestern State College, who served as chairman of the team.

Monday, Oct. 19, a banquet was held for the visitation team, the Oral Roberts University Teacher Education Committee (TEC), and invited guests Drs. Carl Hamilton, Dean of Academic Affairs; Dr. Howard Er-vine, President of the Faculty Senate; and Dr. John Dewell, Director of Fairmont Teacher Education Service Center.

The original goal of teacher education at Oral Roberts University was prepared by the TEC and presented to Cap-ter in May 1969. This document was the result of a year-long study of teacher education at ORU's

Lions' receiver dies of heart attack

Wide receiver Chuck Hughes of the Detroit Lions died of an apparent heart attack Sunday less than one hour after he colluded on National Football League field.

Hughes collapsed on the Chicago 15-yard line with 62 seconds left in the game and never regained consciousness. He was 38.
Walker Earns Ph.D.

Grady Walker, professor of English at Oral Roberts University, has completed his requirements for the conferring of the Ph.D. in English at the University of Tulsa.

A native of Sayre, Okla., Walker did his undergraduate work at Southwestern Bible College and Oklahoma City University, where he received his B.A. degree in 1957.

He was a graduate assistant at Oklahoma State University at Stillwater (OSU) where he received his M.A. degree in 1959.

His teaching career includes six years at Cameron State College, Lawton, Okla., and two years at Southwestern State College, Weatherford, Okla. During the years 1962-67, Walker did graduate work at the University of Oklahoma.

While teaching at ORU full-time since 1967, Walker has been enrolled in the Ph.D. program in English at the University of Tulsa. His doctoral dissertation defense was given and accepted on Oct. 25, 1971. His topic was "The Influence of the Bible on D. H. Lawrence as Seen in His Novels." Although all of his work is completed, the degree will not be officially conferred until June of this year when TU has its commencement.

"The completion of all requirements for the degree and the final approval provided a nice double birthday present," stated Walker, "since it all occurred on the day before my birthday."

Judy Baxter entertains students in evening air

by Dan Dillon

You may not have seen her, but you've probably heard the melody of her bagpipes floating in the evening air. Her name is Judy Baxter, and she's a freshman from Philadelphia, Pa. A music major, she is taking private lessons in clarinet and piano.

Judy began playing bagpipes two years ago in Pennsylvania when a good friend who played the pipes asked Judy if she would be interested in learning. She started getting help from him and has now become very familiar with the instrument. Asked why she chose to take up bagpipes, Judy commented, "It is something out of the usual and hard to explain why I chose to do it."

Judy said her most interesting experience with the bagpipes happened at ORU. "I was playing the pipes in the Prayer Gardens and one of the ladies from the Prayer Group came down to see what I was doing. When she found out I was the one who played the bagpipes, she commented to her husband that she enjoyed the music and she was going to help me make others happy."

Judy made her stage debut at ORU recently when she performed with the Jazz Ensemble at the All-School Talent Show. She then received a standing ovation from the audience with her solo arrangement of "Windy." It is possible that the bagpipes will retain a permanent place in the ensemble, which will be playing at the basketball games later this season.

Playing the bagpipes requires a large amount of air to be forced into the pipes. This results in loudness which forces Judy to practice outside. "The bagpipes have been very instrumental in meeting many people. You would be surprised who you meet in the Prayer Gardens at night, just needing someone to talk to."

All-school chapel

President Roberts has announced that the World Action Singers will present a special concert Wednesday evening, Nov. 29. The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m., and will be in the Health Resources Center. There will be no chapel Sunday, Wednesday, however, attendance will be taken at the concert. Doors will be closed at 7:15 p.m.

English club meets

"The Pentangle," the English Literature Club, will meet at Dean Hamilton's home Tuesday, Nov. 9 at 7 p.m. Social guest will be Dr. Weston Weathers, professor of English at the University of Tulsa and author of three books published this year. All interested students and faculty are invited. Anyone desiring transportation is asked to contact the English Department.

Minority lit course

Mrs. Douglas Crow and Dr. William Epperson will offer a seminar in minority literature for six semester if there is sufficient student response. The class is open to all interested students and is an excellent course for non-English majors and minors to take. If it is offered it will be graded on a pass/fail basis. Students interested in taking such a course should contact Dr. Epperson immediately.

Judy Baxter performs on stage at ORU.

FACIALS"
After the glory fades...

Dedication prevails

by Ron O'Dell
Director of Christian Service Council

Reaching people with the healing love of Jesus Christ is what this Council is all about. Telling the Way is not enough: we've got to show the Way as well. We've got to use our hands as well as our words and prayers to touch the needs of this world. "Showing" may mean getting your hands dirty laying a pipeline at the Boy's Ranch, digging a hole for a septic tank, or just holding a little child up close.

Working for the Lord is exact- ly that work! Soon the newness will wear off, the glory fades, and the magnitude of the ministry is seen. Then it is easy to say, "I think I've done it, I don't really need you," "I need to study more," "I've got a big date to- night," or "I'd rather do some- thing else." Such statements are common after mid-semester. When we begin to care about the right things and really serve our Lord, we find the enemy close at hand to lure us from our service. If we're going to show what we tell, we've got to be consist- ent and committed. The Apostle said in 1 Corinthians 13:13, "Put on God's complete armor, that you may be able to resist and stand your ground on the evil day, and having done all, to stand. Stand therefore . . . hold your ground . . .

This year the Christian Service Council is stressing a disciplined, responsible outreach into our community. Some guidelines have been set forth for each minis- try in the form of a covenant. Every student who becomes in- volved in a Christian ministry will covenant to God:

1. Faithful, consistent partici- pation to his ministry for the en- tire semester.
2. Adequate preparation: per- sonal and group prayer along with Bible study.
3. An intention to help finan- cially support his ministry.

"Showing the Way" must be- come our way of life. We can achieve this only by placing cer- tain priorities upon ourselves. Our Lord is worthy of the best we have to offer, as we "let the Son shine out of this place . . . into every man's world.'
The booters of Oral Roberts University play with 1-1 ties, their first of the season, against North Texas State University last Friday. Tuesday afternoon Houston College invaded Tulsa and left with a hard-won victory. The lone goal for ORU in Intramural manual out

The 1971-72 edition of the student intramural handbook was expected to be distributed to the entire student body by the athletic chairmen this week. Jack Wallace, director of intramural sports, pointed out that the use of the book is to keep up with the scheduling of each sport.

The book was written by Coach Byron Penner, Associate Director of Athletics, and the faculty at Oral Roberts University. Copies are being furnished to all sports men.

The contents of the handbook, Wallace explained, "This year's edition of the handbook was written mainly for the men's intramural teams with the dates, rules, and records pertaining only to the men." The rules and the records for women's intramural sports are not listed, but the dates for intramural sports listed for men correspond to those of the women.

Plants are already being made for 1972-73 handbook which will be an expansion of this year's. Four new areas to be covered in the next edition are women's rules, new sports, updating of records, and plans to involve commuter students and athletes. Wallace hopes to have the plans laid down by next week for the teach- ment of commuter students to the handbook. "We want to get in the 'athletic, intellec- tual, and spiritual life on the cam- pus. As for the athletes in Shaka- rian Hall, they can form a team or join a wing just as the same as commuters." Wallace did not receive a copy of the intramural hand- book," said Wallace, "should get to touch with his athletic chair- man."...
