RUSSIA

"Russia," an uncensored documentary film, will be the final presentation of the 1971-72 Cultural Affairs season. The Cultural Affairs Committee is chaired by Paul Palmer.

Documentary on Russia

CAC offers film

The Cultural Affairs Committee of Oral Roberts University will present the documentary film "Russia" Thursday, May 4 at 8 p.m. in Timko-Barton Auditorium.

Produced and directed by Theodore Holcomb, with a commentary by the noted author, Harrison E. Salisbury, the film is the first uncensored view of life in the Soviet Union ever made. "Russia" was 18 months in the making with the film crew covering 12 of the 15 Soviet Republics without Soviet guides or monitors. However, strict regulations and restrictions on photography hampered the crew and made the filming hazardous and unpredictable.

In Moscow, Holcomb was arrested and charged with asking a drunken man to dance. He was pressured to sign a confession, but refused because of his innocence. The police took his film, developed it, and finding no dancing drunk, gave the camera and film back to the company.

The film crew traveled over 17,000 miles through such areas as Leningrad and the Baltic States, Moscow, Georgia, Armenia, the Caucasus, Siberia, and Central Asia. Battling freezing cold to the blazing heat of the Asiatic desert, the crew shot over 30,000 feet of film only to have it confiscated at the Moscow airport at the time of their departure. The KSB (Soviet Secret Police) decided to destroy the film by the use of X-ray. However the X-ray machine malfunctioned, only a fraction of the film was damaged, and Holcomb returned to the United States with a revelation of Russia.

The vast panorama of the Russian landscape and its people of 60 nationalities is seen in vivid color. The viewer will travel on the Trans-Siberian Express, visit with the Moslem population of Central Asia, and explore the Kremlin, Red Square, and much more.

D. Little elected AAES president

David Little, newly-elected national president of the American Association of Evangelical Students feels that "through co-operation AAES could really take part in what is going on. We want to be able to show people that we have a grasp of what's happening, that we're not just a bunch of Bible-toting students stuck in a closed religious world, and that we have a Christ centered solution to many of the world's problems."

AAES held their national convention at Houghton College, Houghton, N. Y., April 12-16, with 19 member schools attending.

With public relations at a high level at ORU, Little feels that AAES could benefit from this and become a nationally-known organization throughout the U.S. and not just on member campuses. This is where co-operation will prove to be a vital goal, so that each school can draw on the resources and talents of other schools. Speaker interchange between schools and student exchange would be part of the co-operative programs.

Another idea that is being considered is a National Christian Entertainment Organization. This organization would bring together the known Christian singers and groups so that a school could refer to the NCED for the tour dates and charges of a specific group, and also the possibility of having them booked at their school.

Newly-elected AAES officers besides Little are: vice-president—Steve Dubonet, Evangel, Springfield, Mo.; national convention chairman—Bill Roberts, Taylor University, Upland, Ind.; national secretary—Sally McCall, ORU; national public relations—Jerry Six, ORU.

SFMF presents:

'Mission (Im)possible' May 2-5

by Margaret Crider

"Mission (Im)possible" is the theme for Missions Emphasis Week May 2-5. Sponsored by the Student Foreign Missions Fellowship and the Chaplain's Office, Missions Emphasis Week is centered around youth and 20th century missions. The activities will confront the ORU student body with the challenge and responsibility of the evangelization of the world.

The kickoff event will be an international dessert night in the cafeteria, Tuesday, from 4-6:30 p.m. Booths will depict the homeland of each dessert through music and literature.

Loren Cunningham, international director and founder of Youth With A Mission, a faith ministry of some 5,000 youth spreading the Gospel around the world, will speak in chapel Wednesday.

Majors night is slated for 5-6:30 p.m. in the cafeteria Wednesday. Faculty from all major areas offered at ORU will tell how their respective professions can be involved in missions at home and abroad. Emphasis will be placed on the fact that liberal arts people are able to go where missionaries cannot go and on how the different professional skills can be of service to people abroad. Those students who have not yet declared a major are encouraged to join a group which interests them. The booths will also be open during this time.

Wednesday at 7 p.m. Cunningham will be speaking at an informal session in Timko-Barton Lobby. At 10 p.m. he will be on the second floor of the Men's High Rise for a rap session and at 11 p.m. on the first floor of the Women's High Rise. Questions will be welcomed.

A panel discussion on "Missions: Where they are bound" is scheduled for Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Timko-Barton Lobby. The panel will consist of Cunningham, Dr. Charles Farah, and others to be selected. The panel will explore how missions have changed, where they are going, and who the future missionaries will be.

A special meeting with Cunningham is planned for SFMF members Thursday at 11 a.m. in cafeteria room 207A.

Summing up the purpose of Missions Emphasis Week, John Goodwin, president of the SFMF, stated that the missions club wants to zero in on missions. "We don't feel this has ever been attempted or really done before on this campus. Missions is one of the most vital areas of Christian life because there is no way we can read the Bible and get around the commission to go into all the world."

Oklahoma Governor David Hall chats with students Neil Clapp and Stan Scoville last Wednesday during Governor Hall Day activities at ORU. Speaking in chapel Hall said, "Faith is not a beginning or an end. It is a power to guide and to change our lives." Later during the day he spoke at a press conference for television and newspaper reporters representing Tulsa and the collegiate and the high school press and in two ORU classes.

Missions Emphasis Week

Are you aware of your mission?

The entire Oral Roberts University family will hear the challenge and need of missions next week when the annual missions week is sponsored by the campus Student Foreign Missions Fellowship. Programs planned will not be an over-exposure to the great majority of the ORU population.

Student involvement in missions has shown a healthy rise this year. The SFMF has begun to show just a little of the great potential it holds, coming back from the 1970-71 year when participation was anemic and it was beginning to get established after a 2-year period in which it did not function. This year's regular meetings have seen an average attendance of 45, with a peak number of 70 attending the recent meeting with Rudy Lack of Youth With A Mission.

Interest is measured in more than numbers at meetings, however, and the SFMF can also report progress here. A prayer team has organized intercessory prayer times for Russia, and more than 15 ORU students are planning Christian service in other lands this summer. The club has not by any means reached its full potential. Envision a time where the SFMF would have regular attendances large enough to warrant dividing down into small groups for weekly meetings, with each group sharing concern for one specific area of the world. Then a monthly meeting could be held for the total membership. Of 1,300 students at ORU, is there not more concern for persons without Christ than that presently indicated?

That's why we advocate special interest by all to the missions programs to be presented. Missions is more than a preacher handing out tracts or an old maid wasting her life away in a land of ungrateful heathens. In today's world, it opens many possibilities to Christian service that are often neglected because of ignorance. Youth With A Mission and the Christian Service Corps, for example, offer programs for missions work in such areas as medical aid, teaching (science, sociology, agriculture, language, etc.) government advisors, evangelism, and students giving witness in foreign universities.

A saying that has become commonplace at ORU is "Go into every man's world." Via the location of the University and the television ministry, ORU is reaching into the worlds of Tulsans and many, many Americans. This does not exhaust all of God's world and more than half the world is unreached. Will ORU students help meet the need?

We hope to see members of the administration and faculty contribute more interest and support in ORU missions efforts, thereby sparking more student concern. Let each student remember his responsibility to the great commission. Let the entire ORU family remember that "this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come." Missions week is next week!

Senate Soundings

Seating recommendations accepted by administration

Rod Jacobsen, ASB president, announced in last Monday evening's Student Senate session that the administration has accepted the Senate's recommendations for student seating in the Special Events Center (SEC), although they were "disappointed in our (Senate) action." Sections J, LL, M, MM, N, and NN will be occupied only by ORU students and their dates.

In reference to the debate concerning SEC seating in last week's session, I would like to apologize to Steve Stockley, junior class vice-president. It could be inferred from the reporting in last week's column that Stock-ley supported his motion, when he merely meant to bring the matter to the floor so that the senators could make a decision.

Senate voted to accept the final report on the student-operated, FM radio station which will begin operating next semester.

Dave Little reported on the AAES (American Association of Evangelical Students) convention which was held at Houghton College, Houghton, N. Y.

He requested an $1,100 allocation from Student Senate to subsidize approximately one-eighth of the cost for operating expenses of the national office, which will be located at ORU.

Alpha-Omega Players

Actors but not singers

The Alpha-Omega Players, on April 19, took the ORU audience into a world of laughter, satire, farce, and at times, uncertainty.

Presenting The World of Carl Sandburg first, the cast of three—two males and one female deluged the viewers with Sandburg's poetry, songs, and humor.

The variety in the Sandburg readings was delightful, moving from traditional American credos on love, war and motherhood to contemplations on fog, glass, dogs, and a humorous dialogue on suicide. The program ran smoothly with the Players using lighting and a minimum of props effectively.

However the presentation lagged whenever a song was attempted. "Attempted" is befitting because the Players are actors and not singers as they themselves proved. This aspect of the program was disappointing, and carried over into the singing of Eve in the Diary.

The Diary of Adam and Eve by Mark Twain seems to grow in its humor and depth of meaning each time it is presented, and Wednesday was no exception. Cliff Samuelson and Kit Hunter were fresh, sincere, and enjoyable to watch. Props were simple and in good taste. However the reviewer missed the ending to go pour punch. I heard it was very touching—even some men cried. It was a warm evening.

Nixon reduces U.S. troops

President Richard Nixon announced in a radio and television report to the nation Wednesday further troop withdrawals of 20,000 within the next two months. This will bring the troop ceiling to 49,000 men by July 1, 1972.

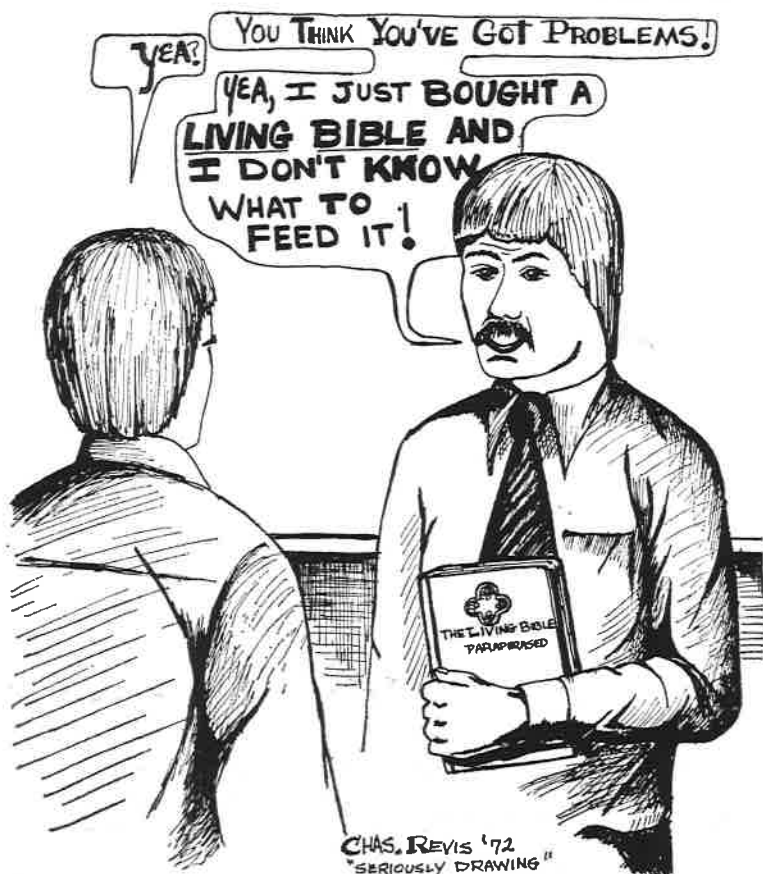

Nixon also announced that the U.S. will continue to use air and sea support, attacking only military targets in the North.

McGovern, HHH win

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey swept to victory in the Pennsylvania presidential primary and Senator George S. McGovern won a Massachusetts landslide Tuesday night as Democratic voters dealt a crippling double defeat to Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

Peace talks to resume

The United States and North Vietnam will resume the Paris peace talks Thursday, the White House announced Tuesday night. President Nixon ordered the talks suspended on March 23 and the North Vietnamese have demanded repeatedly that they be resumed.

Titan netters down AU, 6-3

The ORU tennis team downed the University of Arkansas, 6-3 on the ORU home courts Monday to win the consolation championship of the Oklahoma City University Team Tournament. Both teams had advanced to the match at the tournament held in Oklahoma City April 13-15, but had agreed to decide the championship in the regularly scheduled match at ORU Monday. The win boosted the Titans to a 2-1 edge over Arkansas in matches played this season.

Rain forced the cancellation of last Wednesday's tennis match with Oklahoma Baptist University, but on Friday the ORU tennis players met and blitzed East Central State by a 6-0 score. Tomorrow the Titans will face Oklahoma State University in Stillwater, one of their last five matches this season. Future competition looks strong featuring such opponents as Big Eight champion Oklahoma University and revenge-minded Tulsa University.

In the Burns Park Invitational tennis tournament at Little Rock, Ark., Sunday, ORU's No. 1 player Joseph Solc won the singles title, beating Tom Abercrombie of Denton, Tex., in the championship match, 6-1, 6-1. Solc, who had received the nod as one of the top contenders among the 32 players in the pre-tournament rankings, combined his efforts with Titan Norbert Orthner in doubles action before a broken right arm forced Orthner out of action and the team to default. Orthner had fractured his serving arm a few years ago.

Early in the year, Tennis West magazine rated ORU as one of the better tennis squads in the country, ranking them seventh in the nation. As the season nears completion, Coach Duke observed, "As far as the won-lost record, we have quite possibly lived up to our rating, but we lost matches to three unranked teams which hurt our ranking." The over-all team record with five matches left is 26-5-1, but as Duke said, "The remainder of the matches will be exceptionally difficult."

Sports banquet honors athletes

The annual ORU all-sports banquet has been scheduled for May 4, at 6:30 p.m. in the Student Center cafeteria, Room 201-A.

The banquet each year honors the top athletes in each sport, climaxing the seasons at ORU, and is highlighted by presentation of the President's Trophy by President Oral Roberts to the student-athlete who best exemplifies the spirit of the school.

Henry wins intramural weightlifting

Freshman Mike Henry lifted a total of 1,010 lbs. to win first place and a trophy in the intramural weightlifting meet Monday night. Because there were only nine entries, competition was not divided into weight classes, and places were awarded on the basis of the Hoffman Formula, a mathematical formula that computes weights lifted in proportion to body weight. Trophies were awarded to the top four contestants.

Henry, 18, from Fenton, Mich. boasted a 240-lb. bench press, a 345-lb. squat, and a 425-lb. dead lift. His Hoffman coefficient was 749.4, at his bodyweight of 169.

Mark Giebel, 18, from Midland, Tex., totaled 925 lbs. via a 250 bench press, 295 squat, and 380 dead lift. Giebel's Hoffman coefficient came out to 720.6, at his bodyweight of 157.

Giebel was hampered by an elbow injury that forced him to stop training for several weeks early in the semester.

Bill Blanton, 21, from Port Arthur, Tex., lifted 955 lbs., but had a Hoffman coefficient of 691.4, due to his bodyweight of 176.

Ed Guthmann, 18, from Knoxville, Tenn., had a total of 865 lbs. at a bodyweight of 164, for a Hoffman coefficient of 654.8.

ORU signs McDougald; expecting 'big 6'8" boost'

Oral Roberts University's basketball squad is expecting to get a big boost, literally, from the Bronx, N.Y., next season. His name is Greg McDougald, and he is a 6-8 forward.

Coach Ken Trickey is looking to him to give the height necessary at the forward position "in order for us to have a national championship contender."

McDougald, a first-team Junior College All-American, guided Seminole, Okla., JC to the Region II championship and a berth in the national tournament this year. It was in ORU's own gym that Greg won the most valuable player award in the regional tournament. He showed his finesse under the boards with a record-setting 30 rebounds in one of the games. His ability to score earned for him an average point total of 21.3 in the tourney.

"We needed not just a big forward, but one who has the quickness to run with us, and one we can count on to average in the high 20's. We think Greg McDougald is the best forward for our program that we saw this year.

"With the addition of Greg, and by moving 7-foot Dave Vaughn to center (from the freshman team) and 6-foot-7 Eddie Woods out to forward, we feel we have major league size and talent," said Trickey.

Besides McDougald and Woods, the Titans will have outstanding forward talent returning in Slim Montgomery, Larry Baker, and Melvin Morton.

Edison High's Spence signs letter of intent

Baseball coach Herb Dallis has announced the signing of Joe Spence, star shortstop for Tulsa Edison High School, to a letter of intent with Oral Roberts University.

Joe has been toting a .406 batting average this season for the Eagles, an especially-impressive feat for a shortstop, whose first duty is with the glove.

"I think he is the best shortstop in Tulsa," says Dallis. Tulsa is considered by most college and pro scouts as a traditionally rich storehouse of prep baseball talent.

Dallis intends to eventually use the 6-3 Spence at shortstop, but adds that he may use him elsewhere in the infield until that time.

Baseballers face SBC

The ORU baseball team will meet Southwest Baptist College at home in a double-header tomorrow. Earlier this week they took a 21-16 record to Stillwater for a twinbill with Oklahoma State University Tuesday, and hosted Bethany Nazarene College Thursday.

Prior to Tuesday's game, individual leaders for the Titans included: Rich Rozek in overall batting average, with a .358 mark, and most RBI's with 21; Greg Davis and Tommy Thompson, most home runs, with 4 each; Rozek and Davis in fielding percentage, with perfect 1.000 marks.

In pitching, Gorden Helm has the best earned run average (ERA) with an excellent 1.23 mark.

Jack Cheney has the best record of any Titan pitcher, with a 4-1 mark. His ERA is 1.94.
