Three cheers for June Crain who was recently named one of six finalists in national cheerleading competition.

June wins All-American

June Crain, varsity cheerleader at Oral Roberts for 4 years, has been selected by the International Cheerleading Foundation as one of six finalists receiving the 1974 All-American Cheerleading Award. This was the first year ORU has been invited to compete.

The Tennessee senior competed in the 1972 American Cheerleading Association's All-American cheerleading contest. On that occasion June also won an All-American rating.

June and her five cofinalists will fly to Kansas City this summer for a week of banquets, conferences, and awards. The rest of her summer will be spent at cheerleading clinics throughout the U. S. where June will share her cheerleading experiences. June also plans to share her Christian faith. She says, "Through the whole thing, I just want to give God the glory . . . I want cheerleading to be my ministry this summer."

Seniors to begin busy weeks at Honors Chapel

ORU seniors will be busy the next few weeks. Activities begin with the Honors Chapel next Friday in Mabee Center. Caps and gowns are required at the 11 a.m. chapel.

The Junior-Senior Banquet will be April 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Fairmont Mayo Hotel. Entertainment will be Denny Brooks, a warm up for the Carpenters and Neil Diamond. Tickets are free to all graduating seniors.

Resident students may pick up tickets to the graduation exercises in the cafeteria and commuters may obtain theirs from the Student Activities office in the Sub.

President Roberts' home will be the site of a casual reception the first weekend in May. May 9 and 10 the Senior Retreat is at Shangri-La resort. Beginning with registration at 11 a.m. Thursday, golf, tennis, boating, and bicycling will be available along with a movie that night. Before the movie an "experience" is planned to follow dinner. Dr. William Jernigan says it will be an opportunity for seniors to reflect and evaluate their experiences at ORU. Then there will be a special program following breakfast Friday morning. Checkout will be at 2 o'clock that afternoon.

On May 11 a rehearsal for baccalaureate and graduation will last from 10 a.m. to noon. That night the Regents Reception will be held for seniors and their parents at 7 p.m. A continental breakfast for parents and seniors will be served Sunday morning, May 12, from 8 to 9:15.

Then, the moment seniors have been waiting for—baccalaureate will be 10:30 a.m. and graduation will take place at 2:30 p.m. that Sunday.

Blood battle with TU coming

Blood Donor Day will be Friday, April 19 in the Health Resources Center. Students may come by from 12 noon to 6 p.m. to make their donations.

ORU has been challenged by Tulsa University because ORU has always given the most. Blood of all types is needed, so if we can't beat TU anywhere else, we can beat them in blood donations. We're known as the giving campus with our goal set as 500 pints.

Winning awards has become a habit for Peter Nero ever since he began playing the piano professionally. Hailed as the "Best New Artist" by the National Association of Recording Arts and Sciences, Peter garnered its coveted "Grammy Award" his first year as an RCA Victor recording star.

The very next year Peter was collecting his second "Grammy,"

Hayakawa revisited

Humans have a few basic similarities. Among these are two eyes, a nose, and a mouth. For the most part that is where you can quit drawing parallels.

People are different, especially inside. They are reared in varying places. Some folks have traveled, some haven't. Money has been scarce for some while it hasn't been for others. School systems vary, as do parents' methods for bringing up their children. And we can go on and on. It all adds up to a difference in experience.

So it only takes common sense to realize that when people come to face some situation they will tend to react differently. My reactions are not going to be the same as yours; and yours will differ from those of that joker next to you.

It seems that if more people would realize that every facet of the world is not black or white and right or wrong there would be more peace. Absolutes are rare these days. At the risk of being misunderstood I venture to say there is not a right or wrong for everything under the sun. It's time to quit trying to dictate what your neighbor is going to do on the basis of your experience. There is more understanding of the real situation when a man says, "I didn't like Ray Stevens," than when another man says, "You wouldn't have liked Ray Stevens. You're lucky you didn't see him." The other guy might have had a great time at Ray Stevens. A lot of tension between roomies could be eased if each one would try to understand why the other is so irritating.

We should look beyond ourselves and recognize the person next to us may not be seeing what we are seeing. As S. I. Hayakawa says, "Cow 1 is not Cow 2, so Human 1 is not Human 2." Try bringing some change into the situation. Go out of your way and inject some understanding into the situation, especially when you don't agree with the other guy.

Dear Fellow Students,

I know that Miss Hall's letter in the past issue of the Oracle no doubt prompted a response within many of you. There are many who feel that she was wrong in berating Brother Bob for the use of the "mammy" illustration in chapel and there are those who don't. I don't intend to argue whether she was or wasn't but there are some factors that only those who can identify with the background of an oppressed (I use the word in relative sense only) minority can really be aware of.

As one who has been called "spic" or "wetback" or just plain "scum" so many times that he has lost count, I can definitely say that I don't have any particular affection for those particular terms just as she doesn't have any for the mammy image. As a Christian community we must be sensitive to those things which would offend our brother or provoke unpleasant memories. The third chapter of James warns of the power of the tongue or a single stray word.

As one who has been barred from living in a better neighborhood, attending a better school, eating in certain places because he is a Puerto Rican, believe me, I know how it can hurt. But I also realize that there is one who was there to pick up the pieces and said, "Pray for those who curse you and misuse and just plain rip you off." I know now that all that has been done to me has had a purpose and it has served to make me stronger.

If the shoes don't fit . . .

I know that in Christ there is no east or west, and I also know that there are a lot of people, both Christian and not Christian who act as if there wasn't. But in Christ all things are made new, and that which was, no longer is, for all is done for good for those who love God and are called according to his purpose. Christ died for not only our sins but also to heal our past and to give us a happy today.

All I can say is please, before you reach a conclusion, try to put yourselves in her shoes and when you realize you can't, because you have never been a member of a minority, then realize you can't really make a judgment. But please realize that in Christ there truly is no east or west.

In Christ.
Roberto Rivera

Puerto Rican and proud of it

Dear Editor,

This is not a rebuttal to the editorial "Unclean! Unclean!" nor is it a defense of my statements. My intention is, rather, to amplify the principles I desired to share through my first letter.

What I have discovered in my own personal love life with God, is that there is a deeper, more intimate communion with God that leaves the charismatic realm in the dust. Too many of us are content with our level of attainment in the Christian life. Paul said, "I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus." My concern is that we must not remain on a charismatic plateau, but seek the very holiness of God. Some people are scared by "holiness," because it is not "cool" or it "verges on fanaticism." Praise God, if it takes fanaticism to be made holy like God, I'll do it.

Bob Mumford has said, "The good things of life are often the greatest enemies of the best things of life. So even if something isn't harmful and is intrinsically good, it may still hinder us from receiving the purest and sweetest from God." Bill Gothard, of Institute in Basic Youth Conflicts, has suggested a motto for those who are totally sold out to God: "Others may, I cannot." If we are entirely committed to Christ, we may have to reexamine our priorities and abandon some of the innocent, inoffensive, good things in our lives in order to receive even richer blessings of God's kingdom.

That is the burden of my heart. If we are satisfied with where we are, we become stagnant. Let's reach out for that deep, pure, fresh spring water from the heart and holiness of God.

In His love,
Paul King

Dear Editor,

My past 4 years at ORU have been quite educational for me, but they have also been years of observation. I have observed a failure of love and respect on the part of both male and female for each other. I am speaking, of course, about the dating sickness of this campus. Don't get me wrong, there is a good 2 percent of this campus that has a fantastic dating life, but I am speaking about the other 98 percent.

Ninety-eight percent of the women are not being taken out

Activities Council formed, chairman needed

by greg bledsoe

Last Friday your newly elected 1974-75 Student Senate got into full swing with its first meeting of the year. Some important actions were the formation of guidelines for the selection of committee members and committee chairmen (previously this has been done in a rather haphazard manner), the creation of an "Activities Council" to assure you receive a well-rounded program of entertaining, cultural, and social activities; and that the formulation of activities is as much a collective decision of your views as possible.

You received your first "Newsletter from the President" last week. We hope to make this a monthly publication. In it is an application form for prospective committee members. We are now accepting applications for the different Student Senate committees — entertainment, cultural affairs, election, social functions, communications, student affairs, political affairs; as well as the various faculty/administration committees. We are also looking for students to fill the positions of corresponding secretary, Senate chaplain, and an administrative assistant who would act as a jack of all trades. If you feel you are an innovative, hard-working person who has some creative ideas in any of these areas please fill out an application and bring it to the Senate office in the Sub.

To paraphrase some politician of antiquity, your newly elected officers want to see that government of, by, and for the students begins at ORU. Senate is now in the process of putting together a comprehensive questionnaire covering all aspects of student affairs. We want to do what you want in the areas of publications, activities, expenditures, dorm life, and in our negotiations with the administration. The questionnaire will be distributed in Wednesday's chapel and you can have your say in those plans.

Speaking of the future, your new senators will be returning a week early next semester so they can start what we hope will be a progressive year.

Finally, to end this article on a note of the relevant present, rather than bulling you on future plans, you women in Claudius Priscilla will be happy to know that your long lost change machine has been found and will be coming home.

More letters . . . 'Dating sickness'

because they don't fit into the so-called, unwritten qualifications set by the men in their dorm. This is outright foolishness on the men's part. Just because that special girl you have been interested in is not considered cute by the other men is no reason to not date her. Good-looking women are almost always what men are looking for. But what about that girl who's not a Miss America? That very special girl with the most fantastic personality? Why let outsiders decide who you will be taking out next? Why go on a date with a great-looking girl and have a rotten time because your personalities clash? Are you dating to impress others about who you have gone out with or are you truly interested in that girl? This goes for the women too!

Dating is fantastic and fun when it is done to get to know each other, but when it is done to impress others you will have a horrible time. So please check yourselves ORU Students, for something is wrong.

With all love and respect,
Dave Burris

Dear Editor,

I write this letter in concern for the spiritual welfare of Oral Roberts University and its students. The potential within every student is vast and every student should strive to realize that potential. As the body of Christ we have been granted the power to do greater works than Christ Himself since we have the infinite Holy Spirit (John 14:12).

However, I am concerned about the compromise with the devil whose deception, if allowed to continue, will destroy the work of God on this campus.

ORU has become a security blanket to many students. In this atmosphere of isolation from the "world," some have tried to hide from their responsibility to God and the discipline in which God has called them to walk. All of us need disciplined times of prayer and meditation, reading God's Word, and fellowshiping with the brethren. We are only fooling ourselves to think that we are spiritually "safe" in this "protective" environment without spending time specifically devoted to God every day. Safety and security comes not from ORU, but from God Himself.

"Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour" (1 Peter 5:8). Satan, the artist of deception, has been creeping around, sifting students from the safety and blessing found in Christ. The devil cannot touch God's children outright so he is attempting to join ORU and destroy it from within. Therefore, we must no longer support or tolerate worldly things on this campus; first as individuals, and second as a university. God will not tolerate sin. He is too holy.

We must recognize sin and deal with it accordingly. We must stand as a company of uncompromisingly righteous believers, a model of Jesus Christ, amidst a perverse world.

Such events as the Ray Stevens concert must be dismissed from the University or God's purpose will be nullified. To God, even the thought of foolishness is sin! (Proverbs 24:9).

Let us recognize on this campus that there are two spiritual powers fighting for control over our lives. We must reject the evil one and grasp the Kingdom of God, proclaiming, "I am crucified unto the world; and the world unto me" (Galatians 6:14).

Body work for Tom

by ruth figi

You say it's the end of the year, and you're running out of cash? Be thankful you're not Tom McEndarfer. He had a little body and paint work done on his car, received his statement in the mail, and was charged $3,234,012.39!

Tom was rushed to St. Francis Hospital, suffering with acute hyperventilation. He was released immediately, the doctor telling him it was just "nerves." Upon closer examination the bill from Jim Nelson Ford was examined, and the correct amount of $190.24 had been written above the multimillion dollar figure.

Tom is resting in Twin Towers, his wingmates being instructed to maintain absolute quiet until the strange, dollar-shaped dilations in his pupils have receded to their normal proportions.

Hot weather is here! Now that we've turned the north hill into the French Riviera there is only one thing lacking to make this "the campus with everything." Why not build a giant outdoor swimming pool between Braxton and Shakariann to increase our "fun in the sun?" Ken Irby suggests turning Howard Auditorium upside down and filling it with water. But I think we'll have to pool our resources if the dream of ye old swimming hole ever comes true.

Bama boasts title

by tom carr

Alabama took a slim lead into the final round and then held off closing-day charges by Houston and Oral Roberts to take the team title in the St. Andrews Intercollegiate Invitational Golf Tournament last week. The Crimson Tide posted 1,508 strokes in winning the coveted Arnold Palmer Trophy for the first time.

Defending-champion ORU and the University of Houston battled down to the wire for the runner-up spot, but the Cougars prevailed, totaling up 1,515 strokes while the Titans took 1,520 swings. Following the top three, in order, were Weber State, 1,525; Duke, 1,559; and Houston Baptist, 1,575.

Individual honors went to Keith Fergus of Houston as he overcame a late surge by the Titans' chief threat, Dave Barr. Fergus fired the lowest round of the tourney on the second day when he ripped off a four-under par 69 to take a commanding lead, then put together closing rounds of 72 and 76 to go with a first round of 74 for a tournament-winning total of 291. Barr of ORU strung together fairly consistent rounds of 72-72-74-75 for a final score of 293 but fell two strokes short of champion Fergus.

ORU's golfers will take this weekend off before traveling to Joplin, Mo., for the Joplin Invitational Tournament on April 19 and 20.

Titans falter in away games

by tim thuston

Away from the familiar confines of Titan field, the Oral Roberts baseball team dropped three of last weekend's four games. Powerful Oklahoma downed the young Titans twice, and Missouri Southern took the first game in a doubleheader 3 to 2, before the Titans fought back to win 12 to 8 in the nightcap.

Hard-throwing freshman Terry Unruh went the distance in the opener against Missouri Southern but took his fourth loss of the season against three wins. A six-run eighth inning, aided by four Missouri errors gave the Titans the come-from-behind win. Gordy Helm came in to save the game for Dave Roof who lost his first game of the season against Oklahoma. The 3 losses dropped the Titans' record to 14-15.
