Kuhlman returns to Tulsa Sunday

by John Crowder

Kathryn Kuhlman, a renowned evangelist, will be the guest speaker in a special chapel to be held Monday, September 23, at 11 a.m., Chaplin Bob Stamps announced Friday. Classes normally meeting at that time will be cancelled.

Miss Kuhlman will be holding a crusade in Mabee Center on Sunday, September 22. The doors will be opened to the public at 1 p.m., and the services will begin when the Center is filled.

A spokesman for the crusade said that volunteer ushers are still needed for the moving. Those students wanting to help in the choir or serve as ushers should contact Miss Kuhlman’s local office at 663-5075.

A meeting of all ushers and choir members will be Saturday, September 21, at 7 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church, 1115 S. Boulevard. Usher assignments will be given and choir practice held that evening. All interested should attend.

Miss Kuhlman held a crusade in Mabee Center last September which was filled by overflow crowds.

Cheersleaders chosen

Tryouts were held Monday night for the 74-75 Titan cheerleaders and yell leaders. Competition lasted from 6:30 to 9 in Howard Auditorium.

Joining the already existing cheerleaders squad of Margo Decdo, Roni Hicks, Pam Turner, Janice Shively, and Silvia Jones were Kathy Pallo, Jolene; Elaine Leuba, freshman; and Lauren Shimer completing the line up.

For the first time at ORU there is an equal number of yell leaders to aid in encouraging school spirit. Chosen were Michell Moore, junior; Steve Wallace, senior; Amick Byram, sophomore; Brad Scobourn, freshman; Randy Christensen, sophomore; and Sam Hancock, freshman. These joined ranks with Wayne Cholest and Phil Cook.

These 16 are now beginning practice for routines and drills to be performed at the first Titan game December 2.

Ditto to register voters for November elections

by Cathy Secure

Oklahoma needs ORU voters! No matter what state you come from, registering to vote here could be your benefit, as well as Oklahoma’s. Eligible Oklahomans will be confronted with several major election issues in November.

According to Dale Ditto, recently approved as an Oklahoma Register responsible for registering ORU students September 23, 24, and 25, all students are encouraged to discover what is going on in Oklahoma politics.

Annual pics to be shot

Class pictures will be taken today through Wednesday, September 23 through 25, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. These pictures are for freshmen, sophomores, and juniors only. No appointment is needed and there is no sitting charge. Details about proofs and prints can be obtained from the photographer at the time of the sitting.

These pictures will be used in the Perihelion, so don’t miss out. Come early and bring your smile.

Titan loses Boswell this fall

by Anna Pearson

Oral Roberts University’s basketball varsity will be without one of its seasoned starters as the basketball season begins. Rookie coach, Jerry Hale announced last week that Al Boswell, senior guard, has been suspended from ORU for violation of the school’s Honor Code.

Coach Hale issued the following statement concerning the senior guard: "I have been advised by the Dean of Students that Al has violated the ORU Code of Honor Pledge and has not been granted clearance for enrollment this semester.

Coach Hale continued, "I am hopeful that Al will see his mistake and correct his problem. It is possible for him to reapply for admission at the end of the semester. I am sure that the University will give Al the same consideration as any other student. And if he is accepted, he will be welcomed back to the ORU Varsity with open arms."

Coach Hale said that he could foresee no adverse effect on the players’ morale, but, instead, he felt the players would put forth their best effort to take up the slack caused by Boswell’s absence.

Concerning Boswell’s future plans, Coach Hale stated that "tentatively, Boswell will return to Tulsa after a short trip home to Detroit. He hopes to find work here in the community and continue his pre-season conditioning program, before applying for re-admission."

Student Senate offers TVs for rent or for sale

If you’ve been alive and on campus in the past week you’ve probably heard about the student Senate project to lease 12nd black-and-white Panasonic television sets to students. The charge is only $25 a semester plus a one-time $10 refundable deposit charge. This figure delates to a modest $12.50 a semester if you share with your roommate. A big bonus is the free maintenance provided if your set needs repairs.

Another feature in this first-time offer is the option to purchase your set in April. The $30 lease fee will apply to the purchase price of $95. If you’re in Twin Towers, you can purchase an adapter that will connect your set with the DAIERS so you can watch your favorite professor in addition to tuning in to the mid-day soap operas.

Since last Monday, demonstration TV sets have been displayed in the cafeteria by AWS and AMS. This display will continue through next Friday, September 27, so you still have a week to look yourself and your roommate into signing the contract.

For more information call Carl Grusnell, 749-9131, or Elwin Von Fang, 749-3758.

Who’s in Who’s Who?

Applications are being taken for students interested in being considered for Who’s Who in American Colleges and Universities. Forms should be picked up at the SRO third floor desk. Thursday September 26 is the deadline for all applications and should be given to Dave Ringer in the English Department or Phil Sherwood in the Business Department.
lobby may save students millions.

Wrest to save $100 million annually! The National Student Lobby, a 4-year-old federation of individual students and student governments, is fighting for adoption of Congressional legislation assuring a national air transportation policy that will benefit student travelers.

Bill S. 2651 eliminates airfare discounts on a standby basis for future 22, senior citizens over 65, and the handicapped. It would allow the student with a flexible time schedule to travel at a substantial discount, as a whole. The amount approaching $100 million annually. Standby fares for students are often quoted on a reduced price, which is not usually restricted by rigid travel schedules.

So what do you do? It may sound traditional and not very exciting, but write your congressman. Let him know you pay plenty to go to school and you care about the prohibitive cost of air travel. Specifically, write your Representative (or House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515) expressing your support for the passage of S. 2651. The bill passed the Senate in November, 1975; it needs help to make it through the House. One hundred million dollars can go a long way.

Run For Fun tomorrow

GRU's first Run For Fun event will be held tomorrow beginning at 2:00 p.m. from the gymnasium parking lot west of the Aerobics Center. The events are a 3-mile run and a 3-mile walk. Both run are open to all GRU-related personnel, students, faculty, staff, spouses, and children.

There will be different competitive categories based on age, ability, and sex. The Run For Fun club sponsoring the events encourages all members of the GRU community to take part to earn the aerobics points but mainly just for fun.

Many of the students here at GRU like to play sports, but we are forced to create practice time between classes and before dark. GRU's night-time潍ks haven't been forgotten. According to the Power Plant, boys are being obtained now in order to run a saw line from Twin Towers to the tennis courts. They are as fortunate to get the lights going again as we are to play under them.

Can we have prospective students as overnight guests? If not, why? Helen Inbody, Dean of Women, says, "The only prospective students that can be invited are those students invited by the Admissions Office."

The Admissions Office reports that no policy has been set. A policy will be made after this week when reviewing the total dorm situation.

THERE may be an overwhelming influx of students the week of September 26. Many of them have been accepted at other schools and 1 are looking for a last minute opportunity to visit campus. Many professors are also looking for the college releases to be included in their syllabi.

Olivia finds her style

"If you love me, let me know" recorded by Olivia Newton-John on MCA records
reviewed by dove grimes

In 1971, the Bob Dylan tune, "If Not For You," was recycled to climb the charts to become one of the most popular hits that spring. The girl who brought it back was virtually unknown at the time but was to reach her prime at a later date. The girl? Olivia Newton-John. The later date? Now. Last fall Olivia came out with her second hit, "Let Me Be There." This summer she produced a third hit, "If You Love Me, Let Me Know," from the LP of the same name.

Olivia seems to have finally found her own individual style. The album contains a mixture of country, folk, and rock, but she seems to lean toward country. But the way she sings her music is so captivating, that even if you hate country music, you will find yourself beginning to like the Olivia Newton-John kind of country music.

Nostalgia flick for buffs only

by vem twymen

"That's Entertainment" is a dazzling display of talent and technical skill. Totally musical throughout, some of the most famous entertainment figures are shown in their prime, singing and dancing their way into the hearts of America.

The film presents a panorama of film cuts ranging from the late twenties to the middle sixties. For the student of music and stage, viewing "That's Entertainment" would be an evening well spent. However, the movie does have its drawbacks. Although lavished with talent, big names, and beautiful set designs, there is a lack of continuity, and the viewer is beset with a rambling of old film clips and often trite narration. Even stars as Gene Kelly, Fred Astaire, Judy Garland, Bing Crosby, and countless others could not save it.

This is a film that will have to be viewed by connoisseurs of the arts to be truly appreciated. Speaking practically, "That's Entertainment" was not entertainment for the general public.

Danforth Fellowships offered

Inquiries about the Danforth Fellowships, to be awarded by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo., in March 1975, are invited, according to the local campus representative, Dr. Roy E. Hayden, room 310 M.

The fellowships are open to all qualified persons of any race, creed, or citizenship, single or married, who have without interest in cases of granting or administering in colleges and universities, and who plan to study for a Ph. D. or a master's degree in any field of study common to the undergraduate liberal arts curriculum in the United States. Applicant must be under 35 years of age and submit any graduate or professional study beyond the baccalaureate. Persons must be nominated by liaison officers of their undergraduate institutions by November 20, 1974.

Extravaganza coming

Musical Extravaganza, a production sponsored by Music Student Council, will be September 27. Among those featured are Richard and Patti Roberts, Titian Jazz Band, and many student acts. Tickets are $1.

The award is for 1 year, and is normally renewable until completion of the degree, or for a maximum total of 4 years, of graduate study. Fellowships offered are based on individual need, but may not exceed $3,000 for single fellows and $5,200 for married fellows for the academic year, plus dependency allowances for children and required tuition and fees.

Leaks patched, pool opens

As of last Monday, the pool in the Aerobics Center was ready to go for the rest of the year. No interruptions in its use are foreseen.

Bill Roberts, the pool is ready to be used second semester this year, and the Worship Center will be ready by May 1.

Evelyn's life as a 'daring wife'

Devoted to Oral's ministry she's constantly by his side

It was once said that behind every great man there stands a great woman. But, unlike most great men, Oral Roberts does not have a woman standing behind him—he has a woman who is constantly by his side. Gracious, charming, and every inch a lady, Evelyn Roberts has devoted her life to her husband's ministry.

Evelyn met the Lord when she was only 12 years old. She had gone to a revival, and the sermon failed to move her. But her heart was touched when a young girl played the violin and sang. "Jesus went a little farther—all the way to Calvary."

Her life to the Lord

"I got a picture in my mind of Jesus going to the cross just for me," said Evelyn. "I had no picture of anybody else but me, and I thought, 'If he did this for me, and I haven't done one thing for Him, then it's time I began.'"

She gave her life to the Lord that night and received the Holy Spirit soon thereafter.

"In those days it was not out of the ordinary for people to receive the Holy Spirit," said Evelyn, "at least not in the circle of people that I lived in."

When Evelyn was 19, she went to a camp meeting where she met Oral Roberts for the first time.

"I went to this little camp meeting one Saturday and sat down with my guitar in the only empty seat there. The person that I sat next to was my husband. Of course, I didn't know him at the time, but this was how we met." Evelyn went home from that meeting and wrote in her diary that she had met the man whom she intended to marry.

"A knowing came into my heart that this was the man whom I was supposed to marry. His physical appearance was exactly what I had in my mind as the kind of person I wanted to marry. When I found out that he was a minister, that set me back a little bit because I didn't plan to marry a minister, but that was all right. If the minister part went along with the physical body that he had, then I'd take that, too."

She tried to arrange to meet him one more time before she left to teach school in Texas, but was unable to. As soon as she left home, Reverend E. M. Roberts, Oral Roberts' father, and his family were sent by their conference to the little town where Evelyn's family still resided. The two families became acquainted, and Oral Roberts began dating Evelyn's sister. On Evelyn's 21st birthday, her sister and Oral Roberts sent her a copy of his first book, Salvation by the Blood. They had both written notes on the inside of the cover, and Evelyn wrote to them both thanking them for the lovely gift. Oral Roberts wrote back asking if he could write to her on a regular basis, because she did not want to do anything to upset his courtship with her sister, she refused. But he wrote back that he was only doing her sister to find out about her.

He sent her sermons

Then they began to write each other every day. Sometimes, President Roberts would write for her an entire sermon which he intended to preach, and she would write back with her praises and criticisms. Not until after she gave her opinion would he preach the sermon. Six months after Evelyn's birthday, President Roberts came to Texas to see her. His mother went with him, because she knew if her son was traveling 850 miles to see a girl, it must be serious. They spent a long weekend in Texas and he proposed.

When Evelyn had moved to Texas, she had begun growing cold in her heart. She felt that because of this and other things, she had fallen from the Lord.

"I sent a letter home and said to take my name off the church book because I was no longer good enough to be on it," she said, "I felt then that I was no longer a Christian." She told her fiancé of this, and he said that the Lord could fix that. They went to a revival and, at the conclusion of the service she rededicated her life to the Lord.

"I was so relieved," said Evelyn. "I used to go to bed and pull the covers way up over my head because I was afraid the Lord would come in the night, and I would not be ready to meet him."

Life in a goldfish bowl

Since her marriage, Evelyn's ministry has completely merged with her husband's. When asked if there were any great disadvantages to living with a man as well known as Oral Roberts, Evelyn replied that it would be very nice but they would have to go to a restaurant or other public place without being recognized. "The waiters forget to take our order, and occasionally the cook doesn't even come to cook our food," she explained.

She also dislikes having to live behind a gate. Before they had the gate, though, she could not even take out the garbage without someone's taking a picture of them.

"It's like living in a goldfish bowl sometimes," she said, "but the advantages far outweigh the disadvantages."
Field hockey underway

Sticks, shin guards, pads, and hard rubber balls were brought out of storage last week as ORU's women's Field Hockey intramural team took to the practice field. This marks their third season at ORU, and the season looks bright for the ladies.

Pegey Dumas and Sharon Burton, coaches for the team, are looking forward to a successful season. "Each year more girls come out for the team, our skill level improves, and we play more games. This year we field the most experienced and skilled girls ever to play at ORU," Dumas said.

Returning lettermen are Sue Michael, Ann Kellers, Debi McKnight, Anna Pearson, Roberta Kennedy, Cathy Severson, Joyce Owens, and Paula Bechard. New recruits for the team are Edith Lovenduski, Paula Goodrick, Carol Kincaid, Lynn Ross, Julie Bowers, Leta Hicks, Carolino Vaugliarcik, Anne Henson, Susan Wallin, Kathy Blake, and Norma Marshall.

Scheduled games are September 20, Holland Hall (home); September 28, Northeastern and Central State at Holland Hall; October 4, Northeastern (there); October 20, Phillips and Oklahoma State at Holland Hall; and the State Sports Day in Ada, Oklahoma October 25 and 26.

SPORTLIGHT

No bruised feelings
by Anna Pearson

In the beginning of each intramural season, broken ankles, sprained wrists and bruised bodies increase. Broken relationships, hard feelings, and bitter attitudes also seem to be on the up and up. While these physical injuries can be curbed by close officiating and well-kept fields, so can the bad attitudes and hurt feelings be eliminated by rearranging motives and objectives.

To quote the Student Handbook, "Skill is not a prerequisite; students can have fun while they learn." Intramurals are not for those who want to gratify their egos by "smearing the other team" or for those who want to win at any cost. The purpose of intramural sports is to have fun, to make new friends, and to participate in healthful recreation.

Let's get our priorities straight. Go to the football field with an attitude to have fun, learn, meet new people, and win or lose with a Christian attitude.

Golfers swing in Pro Am

ORU golfers and staff rated high in the Pro-Am golf tourney held September 9 at Meadowbrook Country Club. Bruce Maddox, an Oklahoma City pro took first place honors with a 67, and ORU coach Jack Higgins tied for second place with a 69.

For the ORU varsity, Art Ulley took the number one position with a 70. The purpose of the tourney was to acquaint the Tulsa community and professional golf with the Titan Valley.

According to Coach Higgins, the Meadowbrook Tourney gave the players valuable experience to rely upon in future events. "With all the varsity lettermen returning this year, we have a much stronger team than in past years," said Higgins. "I expect an excellent season."

The ORU duffers are scheduled to participate in a number of important tournaments in the coming months.
